KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Denver Arrayed in Her Sunday Attire

To Receive Properly Her Most Honored Guests.

Thousands March Through the Beautiful Streets,

And Are Reviewed by Grand Master Gobin.

A Welcome Rain, While it Spoiled Some of the Decorations Cooled the Air and Made Everybody Happy.

Denver, Col., Aug. 9.—Nearly fifty thousand knights turned out to-day in the great street pageant which forms the principal feature of the triennial gatherings of the Knights Templar, and the spectacle was one which will be remembered by the good people of Denver for many a day.

The commanderies began to assemble as early as 9 o'clock, but it was almost 11 before the streets were cleared, and the immense body of men set in motion.

Although the line of march extended over several miles, every inch of sidewalk on the route was crowded from curb to building line, every window was filled with eager spectators, and even the housetops were covered with people watching the sea of plumes that moved steadily forward like the current of a mighty river many feet beneath them.

Those on the house tops and in the upper windows, in fact, obtained by far the best view of the procession, as much of its beauty consisted in the intricate symbols of the order which were exhibited in the formation of the ranks as they passed through the streets. It was only from an elevation that the machine like accuracy of the movements could be appreciated as commandery after commandery broke the regularity of the ranks, for a moment seemed lost in confusion, and then as if by magic emerged in the form of a Greek, a Passion or a Maltese cross, or mayhap a hollow square, a triangle or some of the myriad mystic combinations formed from the figure three.

At scores of places on the line stands had been erected, and thousands of people cheerfully paid their quarters, half-dollars or even dollars for a foothold on these points of vantage. Just before the order to march was given Grand Master Gobin was escorted by St. John's commandery, of Philadelphia, from the Palace Hotel to the reviewing stand at the corner of Sixteenth street and Broadway, and here, in the company of the governor and chief officials of the state of Colorado and the Mayor of Denver, he reviewed the hosts of Sir Knights.

Everything that money and forethought could provide for the comfort of the Knights was placed at their disposal and the most fatiguing event of the conclave was accomplished without serious mishap of any kind.

One feature of the parade which gave rise to much favorable comment was the ample supply of cold water which the local committee provided at over a hundred points along the line of march. Each water barrel was placed in charge of a score of small boys armed with cups, and during the halts the thirsty knights kept the boys on the move, and often let a stray nickel or dime drop in their hands to show their appreciation of the attention. At the conclusion of the parade, and after the commanderies had been dismissed, Grand Master Gobin was escorted to the Masonic temple, and there convened the first session of the grand encampment.

The decorations of the city are in themselves a sight, and well worth a journey to behold. The official decorator has covered himself with glory and the city with bunting. By day the buildings present a bewildering maze of drapery of every hue and texture, and woven into designs symbolic of the knightly order. The City hall, court house, Union depot and other large buildings are wreathed in a halo of light, the court house alone being hung with over 1,500 incandescent lights and several scores of arc lamps, the latter being hung at the corners of the dome and over the principal entrances.

Over thiry miles of wire have been laid to provide for the illuminations, and 57 Knights Templar emblems are suspended at different points in the city, some of them being made up of over 500 incandescent globes.

The florists of Denver have hardly a bud or a plant left in their conservatories. The stock of the entire state has been drawn upon for decorations.

The lawn at the Union depot, which covers a space half a block wide and two blocks long, is well worthy of study. The raised Knights Templar designs, such as Maltese crosses, squares and compasses, cross and crown and the keystone are the most intricate and beautiful imaginable.

A magnificent arch has been erected in front of the depot, built on classic lines, and in imitation of stone. A mailed knight is painted on the side facing the depot, and two modern knights on the reverse side.

A life-size statue of a mailed knight is a prominent feature of the structure, and a profusion of electric lights produces an effect at night that is only comparable to an immense pyrotechnic display.

An elaborate arch has also been erected in front of the Masonic temple and one on Eighteenth street, besides numerous less sumptuous affairs in different parts of the city. Search lights of 50,000-candle power each have been placed on several of the high buildings, including the Union depot and court house, each of them throwing a flood of light a distance of three miles. Thirty-two thousand incandescent lights have been strung along the streets, and their light alone would make the city bright as day.

At the head of all blood-purifiers is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. But it's different from all of them. Whatever is claimed for this, it's guaranteed to do. The money is refunded in every case where it fails to benefit or cure. It's because it is different that it can be sold so. All diseases originating from a torpid liver or impure blood yield to it. It cleanses and purifies the system, freeing it from all manner of blood-poisons, no matter from what cause they have arisen. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequaled remedy. Nothing else can take its place.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol to inebriate, and no syrup or sugar to derange digestion.

It's a concentrated vegetable extract; put up in large bottles; pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children; works equally well all the year round.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

A GRAND PARADE.

Thousands of Knights Templar in Line in Denver.

Denver, Col., Aug. 9.—The welcome rain of yesterday afternoon, while it rather spoiled the beauty of some of the decorations, cooled the air greatly and made life more pleasant for the thousands of visitors in the city.

Shortly after noon the showers commenced and by 6 o'clock all was cool and pleasant, while before it had been very hot and dry.

Preparations were going on all the time for the grand parade this morning. The chief marshal's office was a busy place.

All the positions had been assigned long before, but it was impossible to tell just what commanderies would be on hand to take the positions assigned them.

Orders were issued to be in place at 9 o'clock, and at the time they were all ready. After waiting an hour three guns were fired and the head of the procession began to move.

Just at the same time Grand Master Gobin and his escort, St. John's commandery of Philadelphia, started from the Brown Palace hotel for the official reviewing stand at Sixteenth and Logan avenues.

The line of march of the procession began on Fourteenth street, crossed over Court Place to Sixteenth street, then up Sixteenth avenue past the reviewing stand to Race street and then returned to the business section again.

After several miles of marching the parade broke up at the Masonic temple. The 14 divisions formed on as many sides and took their places as the line moved along. As the start was made at 10 o'clock with 25,000 men in line the rear was hardly in motion two hours later. The column formed and marched in the following order:

OHIO'S SUPREME COURT.

Interesting Cases Filed for Settlement.

The Kelley Island Lime Company's Affairs.

Interesting Statement of Facts in Connection With Litigation Long Drawn Out.

Columbus, Aug. 9.—(Special)—The case of George W. Calkins against Seymour F. Adams, Jesse H. Morley and Joseph Colwell, executors of the will of M. C. Younglove, error to the circuit court of Cuyahoga county, was filed in the supreme court.

Calkins sued Younglove, Robert G. Day and Edward E. Day upon the following statement of facts: Calkins had $35,000 invested in the manufacture of lime, and in October, 1872, Younglove and Charles G. Hickox were taken in as partners and each contributed to the capital one-third, but Calkins was entrusted with the management of the business and so continued until July, 1874, by which time he had all his business property, $41,000, in the lime business.

The partners then formed a corporation, known as The Kelley Island Lime company, with a capital stock of $123,500 divided into 1,235 shares, each partner holding one-third, and Calkins being continued as general manager. Shortly after the incorporation there were serious disagreements between Younglove and Hickox, and in order to protect himself Calkins bought up enough of the stock to gain a controlling interest.

He negotiated separately with Younglove and Hickox, and finding that he could buy cheaper from the latter, bought all his stock.

Younglove was worked up to such an extent that he threw the business into the hands of a receiver, who conducted it for three years with such success that the debts were reduced $12,000, and Calkins, to use his own words, so far succeeded by legal measures in thwarting the schemes of Younglove as to procure the discharge of the receiver; whereupon Younglove did a little "thwarting" on his side by devising a scheme to put the corporation into involuntary bankruptcy.

It required a certain number of disaffected creditors to accomplish this and he got the two Days, his relatives, to agree with him that he would go through the form of handing over to them certain notes which he had paid up and held as a creditor against the corporation.

And so Calkins says Edward E. Day, August 24, 1878, "falsely made oath" that he was the owner of a note for $1,758.37, and Robert G. Day swore that he was the owner of a $1,500 note. "Involuntary" bankruptcy followed, the petition being filed in the United States court for northern Ohio and the property was sold at public outcry, Younglove bidding it in and leaving Calkins to hold the stock, for which humiliating service he wants $40,000 of Younglove's money as damages. Both the lower courts dismissed his petition. Younglove is dead and his executors now fight the case.

The case of W. H. Boyd, assignee, against Thomas W. and Jessie E. Hill, error to the circuit court of Cuyahoga county, was filed in the supreme court. The trouble began before a justice, Hill being pressed by a multiplicity of claims until he was compelled to assign to Boyd. Hill demanded of the constable that $500 be set off in lieu of a homestead and the constable complied and delivered the property. When the case came before the justice he dismissed all the attachments in accordance with an agreement by Hill to turn over to his assignee all his property, including the exemption, except his household goods. Hill and his wife subsequently made separate demands for $500 under the homestead exemption act. The circuit court reversed the common pleas and lower courts and found Mrs Hill, who had not been a party to the agreement made by her husband, was entitled to the $500. The assignee objects.

The case of the Farmers' Mutual Union Fire and Lightning association against Daniel Crandall, error to circuit court of Darke county, was filed in the supreme court. Crandall was a member of the company. He had his house insured for $1,300 and it burned March 27, 1888, to the extent of $540. The defense of the company was that Crandall was in default for his assessments, and according to the rules this worked a forfeiture. Crandall says he was sick and that the claim was besides not prosecuted as the defendant company waived a strict compliance with its rules. Crandall recovered.

The case of Mather J. and Mary A. Lowman against R. C. White, Emily G. Corry and T. H. Johnson, error to the circuit court of Lake county, was filed in the supreme court. The proceeding is in aid of an execution for debt in $1,099.66 and costs.

THE EARTH TREMBLED.

Southeastern Germany Shaken Up a Little.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—An earthquake was felt to-day in southwest Germany in the neighborhood of the Rhine. The direction was from the northwest to the southeast and was felt most severely in Coblenz, Ems and Wesbaden. The shock lasted 10 seconds. Buildings rocked and glass and other articles in some instances fell and were broken. People were frightened and many ran out of their houses to the streets. No fatalities are reported.

A REVOLUTION IS OVER.

Honduras is Once More at Peace.

The Insurgent Commander Taken Prisoner and Shot for His Deeds.

New Orleans, Aug. 9.—News was received late last night from the fruit steamship Sotori, that the Hondurian revolution was practically at an end, and that Nuila, the insurgent leader, had fled the country.

The government has been making use of the Pizatti, a fruit vessel, for some time. A few days ago the Pizatti, manned with government troops, stole into the harbor of Ceiba, an insurgent stronghold. As she entered the harbor she was fired upon by a steam launch. The fire was returned and the little vessel captured with all on board.

The Pizatti then landed the troops and after a short battle the insurgents were driven to the interior.

In the battle General Peralta, the insurgent commander at Ceiba, was taken prisoner, and together with Signor Alornoda, a relative of the present minister of war, and Signor Carcamore, was shot on the morning following the battle.

After this capture the Pizatti steamed to Truxillo where the government troops landed without difficulty, the insurgents having fled to the interior.

On the day of the departure of the Sotori from Ceiba for New Orleans, news was received on board of an engagement in which Nuila, the insurgent leader, was defeated at Olanchito, in the interior. It was thought Nuila had fled to Nicaragua. The Sotori stood in Ceiba bay during the entire battle.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—A telephone message just received at the United Press office states that Hon. John C. Normile, judge of the criminal court, committed suicide at his residence in the western portion of the city this morning.

THE LACKAWANNA.

The Rumored Sale is Causing Much Comment.

New York, Aug. 8.—The curious statement found in Poor's Manual that the Lackawanna passed into the control of Reading interests in February last, has attracted a good deal of attention, and no explanation of it has yet been made public.

Several details of the statement have been made unofficially, but, in the absence of President Sloan, nothing authoritative in regard to it has issued from the Lackawanna offices, and no word of defense, explanation or reiteration has been uttered by the Manual people. The statement, if an error, is a curious and phenomenal one, and, if true, is still more phenomenal as an unexpected channel for the publication of important news.

John P. Manley, the editor of the Poor Manual, said yesterday that he had written a letter concerning the matter to President Sloan, which would reach him to-day. Mr. Sloan was at liberty, Mr. Meany said, to make the letter public if he desired to. In the meantime the editor of the Manual had nothing to say for publication. One report Saturday was that Mr. Sloan wrote to the editor of Poor's Manual some days ago demanding an explanation of the statement. The editor, it was said, had communicated by cable with Henry V. Poor, who is in Europe, and had received directions to disclose his source of information.

A NAVAL RESERVE.

Preliminary Meeting for Starting the Same

To be Held With Col. Bonner This Evening—All Interested Are Invited to be Present.

At the supper tendered by Col. Bonner to the officers of the Second regiment at Presque Isle, during its encampment a short time since, the subject of a naval reserve was discussed at considerable length.

The matter has also been presented in detail form in the columns of the Bee.

Since that date considerable interest has been manifested in the project by prominent citizens of Toledo, who are anxious to see such an organization completed in Toledo at once, and express themselves as being willing to give substantial aid to push the thing along.

At the supper at Presque Isle, Col. Bonner suggested the idea, which has taken substantial form, and an informal meeting will be held at the office of the Ames-Bonner company, on Ottawa street, this evening, when the subject will be discussed and some plan of future action decided upon. This meeting is held to start the ball rolling. It will require some time and considerable business management to put the project through, and this will necessitate a leadership on some one or more to take the matter in hand.

Col. Bonner has no interest in the matter further than a desire to see the organization put on foot as a credit mark to Toledo and the state of Ohio, and he stands ready to render any assistance within his power.

Other influential men of the state have volunteered like services.

Adjt. Gen. Pocock has stated that he will give the matter all the material support possible. If the organization applies to be mustered into state service as a naval reserve, he would be glad to receive it, and would supply the regulation naval uniform. Captain Heistand, of the regular army, is most favorably impressed with the idea, and is doing some good work in the interest of the project.

At the present time there is but one organization of the kind in existence. This is located at New York city, and is the pride of the state and national war departments. The New York Reserve is for seacoast protection. The organization under discussion would be principally for lake front protection, and any one familiar with military plans and maneuvers on land or sea knows the necessity of such protection.

THE GOLD TRAIN.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The special train carrying $20,000,000 from the San Francisco mint to New York, reached here over the Lake Shore road at 1 o'clock this morning.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The gold train left here for New York over the Central Hudson road at 7:25 this morning.

NEW JERSEY PROHIBS.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 9.—About 500 delegates attended the prohibition state convention here to-day. J. Sloane, of Essex, was elected permanent chairman. He made a vigorous speech in which he predicted the speedy destruction of both the old parties. At noon a recess was taken for the formation of committees.

STRIKE WILL CONTINUE.

Master Workman Hicks Still on His Mettle.

Stone Masons, Material Handlers and Public Cartmen Refuse to Go to Work.

New York, Aug. 9.—Notwithstanding the collapse of the strike ordered by the walking delegates, Masterworkman Hicks of D. A. 253, has decided to continue the strike against the building material dealers' association in all the trades over which he has control.

These unions are: The stonemasons, the material handlers, the brick handlers and the public cartmen. Mr. Hicks has also the control of the boatmen's union.

None of the members of these unions returned to work to-day with the other building trades. As these unions practically hold the keynote to the construction of a building, the work of those who have gone back will necessarily be for a time very slow.

GLADSTONE ON DECK.

He Opens Debate on the Queens' Speech.

Characteristic Remarks from the Grand Old Man.

Wild Cheers Greeted Him When H Arose in His Seat to Start the Ball Rolling.

London, Aug. 9.—Wild cheers greeted Mr. Gladstone when he arose in parliament to-day to speak in the debate on the queen's address. When the applause subsided Mr. Gladstone said there was just cause of complaint against the government for having embarked the house on an utterly barren and anomalous debate.

Hitherto the queen's speech had always admitted that the result of a general election was binding and conclusive.

"Now," added Mr. Gladstone, "we find the decision of the country challenged by the government; and this house has met to discuss, it does not know what." (Conservative and liberal unionist cheers.)

Mr. Gladstone went on to say that the criticisms of the other side on the composition of the liberal majority struck at the root of the constitution. The liberal majority doubtless had Irish votes for a basis, but under the circumstances this was rather a recommendation than a ground for assailing the right for such a majority to represent the people.

CAPTURED THE GANG.

Uncle Sam Red Hot After Counterfeiters.

Three of Them Coralled Yesterday and To-Day—An Important Arrest.

The gang of young fellows who have been shoving counterfeit silver certificates have been caught up with a short turn, and four of them are now behind the bars.

Col. A. G. Abbott, of the government secret service department, made an important arrest at Dunbridge yesterday, when he captured Wm. George, who seems to be the ringleader.

Col. Abbott traced George from Saugatuck, Mich., where he passed four $10 counterfeit notes, to Toledo, where he ran him down.

George is very ill with typhoid fever and a broken leg. Mr. Abbott placed him under arrest and left United States Deputy Dan Harmon to guard him until he can be removed, which will not be for some time.

Fred Eggleston, of Dunbridge, and Charley Morgan, two country boys, were arrested this morning as also having handled the stuff.

The counterfeits are very crude affairs. Col. Abbott showed a Bee one of them this morning and they would not deceive a child. Many are printed on coarse, heavy paper, so heavy in fact, that it breaks when creased.

Col. Abbott does not believe George to be the prime mover, but George refuses to divulge any secret as to where the counterfeits were printed. He is too ill now to press him into a confession, and he will not be worried until he recovers somewhat.

Joe Smith was a name by which George was known here. He has been peeling elm out at Dunbridge, but it is believed did that simply for a blind.

A fourth and probably a fifth party will be arrested this afternoon and this will complete the gang.

Young Taylor, now in jail under a $500 bond, seems to have been more sinned against than sinning.

The money has been successfully passed in this city and in several of the surrounding towns.

ORDER OF THE IRON HALL

Judge Fell Will Take Hold of the Case.

A Receiver for the Mutual Banking Company.

The Capital Stock of the Concern Has Been Impaired One Hundred and Seventy Thousand.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—The Press to-day says that Judge Fell, of common pleas court No. 2, has indicated to Charles H. Krumbhaar, state superintendent of banking, through an attorney, that he will this week entertain a petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Mutual Banking company, which is the local depository of the Iron Hall, and with which Supreme Judge Somerby, of the order, is prominently identified, if the deficiency of capital stock is not made good at once.

This is the result of Superintendent Krumbhaar's recent investigation.

A couple of months ago Superintendent Krumbhaar presented a petition to Judge Fell asking for a receiver of the company owing to the impairment of $170,000 capital.

At that time several stockholders agreed to make up the deficiency.

This the directors now claim has been done. The last investigation by Mr. Krumbhaar they contend, was principally to find out who are the directors who made good the impairment and how much and what kind of funds each subscribed. This the directors claim they do not have to reveal and have refused to make known to Mr. Krumbhaar.

New York, July 9.—Three bouts were fought last night at the Coney Island Athletic club before about 10,000 spectators. The first was between Billy Plimmer, of England, champion bantam of the world, and Jerry Barnett, of New York. It resulted in favor of Plimmer, who outclassed his opponent. Barnett made a game fight, and lasted the stipulated eight rounds.

The second bout was an eight round contest at 154 pounds, between Charley Kammer and Jim Sullivan, both of New York. It was a veritable slugging match. Both men displayed science. The referee declared the fight a draw.

The third bout was a 20-round contest at 120 pounds between Eddie Pierce and Geo. Siddons, "The Little Demon" of the south. Siddons was seconded by Billy Ducey and Jack Hicks, while Pierce was looked after by Eddie and Mike Healy. Al Smith was referee. After 41 rounds both sides agreed to call the fight a draw.

THE BOARDS ARE FULL.

Eight Appointments Made by Mayor Emmick

Are Confirmed at the Council Joint Session.

The Democrats Get Their Share of the Honorary Positions—Aldermen Then Pass on the Regular Schedule.

The boards of council and aldermen met last evening in joint session with all members present except Alderman Wolfman and Councilman Doner. There were several appointments from the mayor, and before the meeting was called to order there was some talk among the republicans of leaving the democrats out in the cold. Mr. A. C. Osborne, the newly elected member from the Seventh, occupied his seat, and this makes the council republican on joint ballot. They did not seem to know how to handle their new found power, however, and forgot to caucus until after the business had been started.

The first appointment was that of T. P. Brown as natural gas trustee, to fill the seat of Dr. W. W. Jones. The vote on his confirmation was divided on party lines, the democrats voting against him. Alderman Leroux also voted with the democrats.

The ballot stood 14 to 11, and the appointment was confirmed.

The appointment of Robert Barber as natural gas trustee was the next business, and he was confirmed by a vote of 24 to 1, Mr. Neuendorf alone voting against him. On the first call Messrs. Hake and Manchester also voted no, but before the vote was declared they changed to aye.

Mr. Tanner then moved for a recess for five minutes in order that the republicans night caucus. Mr. Leorux and several of the democrats objected to this. On a vive voce vote, President Huberich declared the motion lost, but on a call of the roll it was carried, 13 to 12. Messrs. Leroux and Peiter voted with the democrats against the motion.

Even after the caucus the republicans did not seem to be settled upon anything and their voting was very much mixed. Mr. Neuendorf seemed very angry over something and refused to vote for anybody.

The appointment of J. H. Puck as a member of the board of trustees of the soldiers' Memorial building was confirmed by a vote of 18 to 7.

The appointment of E. A. Eversman to succeed himself on the board of fire commissioners was confirmed, Messrs. Hake, Neuendorf and Taylor voting no.

The appointment of Henry Stautzenbach as a member of the board of workhouse directors was confirmed, Mr. Neuendorf alone voting against it.

A communication was read from the university board appointing A. E. Macomber to succeed himself for the five year term and H. J. Colburn to succeed himself for the three year term. These were voted upon separately, but both appointments were confirmed, Mr. Neuendorf voting against them.

The appointment of Dr. S. F. Forbes to the same board was also confirmed.

This concluded the business of the joint session and an adjournment was taken at once.

The Board of Aldermen

Was then called to order and proceeded with the regular business of the evening.

On the call for new business Mr. Hartford presented a resolution for a sewer in Smead avenue, Bancroft street to Monroe. This was referred to the sewer committee.

Mr. Hartford also introduced a resolution requesting the sinking fund trustees to invest in natural gas bonds to an amount not less than $50,000. This was unanimously adopted.

A petition for electric lights on Maplewood avenue, presented by Mr. Hodge, was referred to the committee.

President Huberich introduced a resolution which had been recommended by the police board. It was to repair the police station at a cost not exceeding $3,000 and was adopted.

A resolution was adopted to purchase about six acres of land in Washington township, west of the city, for the purpose of erecting thereon a hospital for contagious diseases.

A communication was read from the Toledo Street Cleaning and Improvement company asking that they be allowed to present their plans for keeping the streets clean. This was referred to the street committee.

A report from the board of gas trustees was read and placed on file. This communication is printed in full in another column of the Bee.

From the schedule resolutions were adopted to improve Webster and Boyd streets and the resolution to pave Western avenue was laid on the table, on motion of Mr. Graham.

Resolutions were also adopted to construct sewers in Vance street and in the alley between Dorr and Hicks streets, also granting permission to property owners to build a sewer in the alley between Parker street and Willard street.

Business from the council board was adopted without discussion.

Mr. W. D. Wentz of Geneva, N. Y., was cured of the severest form of dyspepsia by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Full particulars sent if you write C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The Leaders Mapping Out a Line of Action.

A Full Ticket to be Placed in Alabama —The Greenbackers to be Taken in a Body.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 9.—The people's party national executive committee held a meeting here yesterday. But little actual business was transacted, the meeting being devoted principally to talking over party matters generally and campaign funds and prospects in particular.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Alabama state committee to at once put a full electoral ticket in the field. The recent Alabama election was discussed at some length, it being agreed that the result augured well for the party's success in that state in the fall. "It is a noticeable fact," said National Treasurer Rankin, "that the counties overwhelmingly carried by Jones were those in which black voters predominated, while the white counties were nearly all carried by Kolb."

Another resolution was passed calling on Messrs. Washburn (Massachusetts), and McParlan (New York), to call a meeting of the national committeemen of the eastern states, at which meeting shall be arranged a vigorous plan of campaign. "This meeting is called," said Dr. A. S. Houghton, national committeeman from Connecticut, who was present at the executive committee's meeting, "because most of the old greenbackers who have been affiliating with the democrats are inclined to support our ticket, and we want to arrange a plan of campaign that will assure us of success in many parts of the east."

Chairman Taubeneck announced that his Colorado advices showed that 45 papers in Colorado had deserted the old parties and were supporting Weaver and Field. Of those 17 were formerly democratic organs, the others republican.

The Watson investigation in Washington was mentioned as helping the third party cause wonderfully. "The average voter," said Mr. Rankin, "knows it is true that liquor is sold at the restaurants in both branches of the national congress, and it is but reasonable to suppose that those congressmen who love liquor should indulge in it to excess when under the excitement of debate."

Regarding finances Treasurer Rankin announced that the people were responding liberally to the recent call for campaign contributions. "We expect to receive about $10,000, with which we will do as much as will either of the old parties with $200,000. Our people are poor but responding to the call liberally, and we are going to give this country the hottest campaign it ever saw."

Encouraging reports were announced as having been received from all over the west. An official campaign badge was talked over, as was the course to be pursued by Weaver and Field, but the matter was left in the hands of Chairman Taubeneck for final settlement.

It was agreed that the next meeting should be held on Sept. 12 at the headquarters here.

EIGHT HOURS A DAY.

The Effect of Its Enforcemen on Government Work.

Local Contractors Notified of the Law and What They Say of Its Results.

Yesterday local marine contractors and dredge-owners generally received notification from Washington that under the new government eight-hour law, which went into force August 1, all contracts hereafter made must be in accordance with the law.

Messrs. Rooney, Breyman Bros., and others received the notice, and all speak of the law as a great deal of a nuisance, and an expensive nuisance.

"It was a mistake to apply the law to lake dredging," Mr. Rooney said to a Bee. "We will work from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and then the men will be obliged to lie around on that dredge for 16 hours. I am willing to wager that the men themselves would prefer working at least 12 hours a day. We cannot bring in the dredge every evening, and the men must remain on her for a week at a time. Anyone who has ever been on a dredge out in the bay for a week will know what a dreary life it is. Why, any kind of work is a blessing."

"What other effects will the law have?"

"The worst effect will be that it will increase the cost of government work fully one-third. The dredging we did last year for 20 cents a cubic yard we cannot do this season for less than 30 cents. It is just the difference between 10 and 12 hours."

UNDER A BIG TENT

The Next Presidential Inauguration Will Be Held.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—A local paper says that the next inauguration at Washington will be held under a circus tent. Bert Davis, a former advance agent of the Barnum & Bailey show, is responsible for the story.

About a month ago Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill in congress to provide a shelter for holding the inauguration ceremony. It is proposed to erect an amphitheater at the east end of the capitol. Mr. Bailey offered to furnish the canvass free on condition that the board of public works should pay for the transportation of the canvas from New York city to Washington, and that he should have the privilege of using the same plat of ground for putting up his tent when he showed there next summer. The offer was accepted.

H. C. PATTERSON, M. E.,

Chief Engineer of the General Co. in Toledo,

To Superintend the Construction of the New Electric Light Plant—It Will be Thoroughly Fire Proof.

Mr. H. C. Patterson, M. E., the chief engineer of the General Electric company, arrived in Toledo yesterday with plans and drawings for the new electric light station to be erected on Water street. Mr. Patterson is known on both sides of the Atlantic as an expert electrician, and the fact that he comes to superintend the construction of the plant in this city is a guarantee that Toledo will have one of the best electric plants in this country.

The new building, which will be completed the latter part of October, will possess none of the defects so glaringly apparent in the old building. It will be absolutely fire-proof—brick, stone and iron throughout.

The extreme ground dimensions of the building will be 113x101 feet. The main part will be two stories in height, and will contain shafting and dynamo rooms 42x98 each.

The engine room will be 30x98 feet, and will be supplied with three McIntosh & Seymour double tandem compound condensing engines, cylinders 14 1-2x22 inches.

The boiler room will be 35x98 feet on the ground, and will contain nine boilers.

The chimney will be 130 feet high, 13 feet square, with 72-inch flue.

The plant is to be a model throughout, fitted with the best and latest electrical appliances and machinery, and Toledoans can rest assured that when the new plant is completed, no city in the country will be furnished with a better light.

Work was commenced to-day.

RECEIVER APPOINTED

To Take Charge of the Gitskey Clothing Store.

Certain Heirs Dissatisfied With the Administrator—Sheriff Stuart Appointed Receiver—The Store Closed Up.

The Gitskey clothing store located on Summit street, is in the hands of a receiver.

Sheriff Stuart was appointed receiver on a temporary order issued in common pleas court by Judge Lemmon, until the return of Probate Judge Millard.

The proceedings were instituted by the filing of a case in common pleas court this morning, in which Rebecca Gitskey is the plaintiff, and Marcus Gitskey, administrator de bonis non of the estate of Joseph Gitskey, defendant.

The clothing store is a part of the estate and the plaintiff claims that Marcus Gitskey is not discharging his duties according to law. She prays that he may be enjoined from disposing of the stock in any manner, and that a receiver be appointed. The temporary injunction was allowed and a receiver appointed. The store was closed up and is now in the hands of the receiver.

WILL MOVE TO TOLEDO.

Such is the Decision of Samuel Snell,

Who Runs a Big Cycling Lamp Factory at Birmingham, England—The Gendron is Among the Firm's Toledo Customers.

Mr. Samuel Snell, of the firm of Samuel Snell & Co., Birmingham, Eng., has been in the city recently and has become so interested in Toledo as a business center that he has concluded to close out his business in Birmingham and locate his mammoth manufacturing industry in this city. His specialty is the manufacturing of cycle lamps. Said Mr. G. H. Fisher, president of the Gendron Iron Wheel company, to a Bee this morning: "We purchase from three to five thousand lamps a year of this firm for our trade. Mr. Snell pays this country a yearly visit, and because we were the first to buy a bill of goods from him on his first trip, he named his industry the 'Toledo factory.' He also manufactures carriage lamps and other novelties in the cycling trade. There is a good opening and a demand for a like factory in Toledo and there is no doubt about there being immediate success in store for Mr. Snell if he concludes definitely to locate here.

"Mr. Snell has returned to Birmingham with the idea of closing out his business and upon his return the probability is a stock company will be formed comprising several Toledo capitalists.

AMONG THE IRON MILLS.

Workingmen at Homestead Are Jubilent.

More Desertions Reported from Fort Frick—Everything Quiet at the Union Mills.

Homestead, Pa., Aug. 9.—The locked out men at Homestead are exceedingly jubilant over the continued desertions of the new men from the Carnegie mill.

Vice Chairman Crawford of the advisory committee said this morning: "There is no longer any doubt that we have the strike almost won.

"From information received thus early the firm is greatly handicapped by the desertions, and it is believed that fully nine-tenths of the men now at work will come out within the next week. They are rapidly tiring of their prison-like life and restricted liberty."

Manager Potter denies the wholesale desertions from the works as claimed by the advisory committee, but the latter have names and addresses of many of the deserters, together with affidavits to substantiate their claims.

The Fifth regiment left for home this morning. The Tenth regiment will leave this evening or early in the morning. Part of Gen. Wylie's staff went home to-day.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Everything is quiet in the vicinity of the Union mills to-day. The 18-inch and 20-inch mills were run this morning by shifting the crews from other departments. The firm is offering $5.50 per ton, with a contract running 16 months for puddlers, but so far have received no applications. It is stated that eight non-union men left the Thirty-third street works this morning. The strikers say they have information that the mill is fast going to rack on account of the incompetency of the present workmen. They say that yesterday the company suffered great loss of money on account of caving furnaces and badly burned iron.

DECREASE IN OIL.

St. Marys O., Aug. 9.—(Special)—There is less doing in the St. Marys oil field at present than at any time since it was opened. Very few wells are being completed, and what few there are have no particular interest centered in them, as they are drilled in territory that has already been developed.

The daily output of the entire field now is only about 3,800 barrels, as against 12,000 several years ago.

FREMONT.

Fremont, O., Aug. 9.—(Special)—Fremont's school enumeration figured 2,217, which gives this city a population of 11,085, using the multiple five.

The corner stone of the new Grace Lutheran church will be laid in this city Sunday, August 14.

POLICE RULE THE DAY.

The Arionetes Insulted in Frankfort.

Counsellor Steffens Explains Matters and the Stars and Stripes Float Aloft.

New York, Aug. 9.—It appears from Frankfort papers which arrived in this city yesterday that the Arion members who are touring Germany and Austria had an exciting experience in that city. Upon their arrival there, July 25, they were heartily welcomed at the depot. As soon as the speaker, who was to deliver an address of welcome in behalf of local singing societies, began his speech, police officials interfered and harshly declared that no public meeting could be tolerated until permission had been obtained from the police authorities.

Indignant, the Americans went to their quarters, the hotel Bruesseler Hof, where they soon after floated the stars and stripes. When the police commissioner noticed the flag he ordered it down, remarking:

"Here, we don't live in Asia, where flags may be displayed at any time."

Thoroughly disgusted, the Arionites decided to leave Frankfort at once, without giving their announced benevolent concert, when Government Counsellor Steffens formally apologized for the action of the commissioner and withdrew the order regarding the flag. The Arionites thereupon remained and gave the concert, over 8,000 people attending.

The Frankfurter Zeitung asks the American visitors not to hold the people responsible for the action of the police, and remarks that in Germany people enjoy just as much freedom as the politics permit.

REPUBLICAN PLANS.

The Great and Growing West Must be Looked After.

Headquarters to be Established at Chicago, from Which Votes Will be Corralled.

New York, Aug. 9.—The Herald says the republican campaign in the west will be directed from Chicago by the following committee, subject to the national executive committee:

W. J. Campbell, of Illinois; J. N. Huston, of Indiana; E. Rosewater, of Nebraska; R. G. Evans, of Minnesota; H. C. Payne, of Wisconsin.

The members of the committee will meet the latter part of next week, probably. The day has not been fixed. Their headquarters will be at the Grand Pacific Hotel. Mr. Campbell will be elected chairman.

The committee will have supervision over the canvass in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin—three states regarded as doubtful in the plan of campaign adopted by the executive committee—and over all the west.

It is subordinate to the executive committee, but its decisions will be regarded as settling questions pertaining to the west.

The work of the executive committee will be still further subdivided. William O. Bradley, with the Kentucky members, will be still further subdivided. William J. H. Manley and Samuel Fessenden will direct the canvass in New England. Mr. Manley will stay in Maine until the state election next month. He will then come to this city.

Another important meeing of the executive committee will be held on Friday or Saturday. The compensation of the officers and employes of the national committee is to be fixed.

J. J. DAVIS DEAD.

CUT IN A FIGHT.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 9.—Last evening there was a fight between railroad men and Italians at Coxton, three miles from Pittston. The party of Italians drew knives and slashed right and left. Harry Bellette and Robert Williams were fatally stabbed and John H. Jones was severely injured.

An Atlanta lawyer dislocated his arm while making a gesture to emphasize his speech.

Death of August Oechsler.

Another old citizen of Toledo passed away this morning in the person of Mr. August Oeschler. He was a prominent German, and for years acted as superintendent of buildings for the board of education, prior to the election of Mr. Henry Conrad. On retiring from the position he went into the crockery and glassware business on Summit street. The deceased was well known as a man of probity and honor, and his death will be learned with regret by his numerous friends.

Just Struck Town Incidentally.

A number of coal mine operators were registered at the Weddell House yesterday. Among them was Mr. G. G. Hadley, of Toledo, who owns several mines, a fleet of vessels, and part of a railroad. He was accompanied by Mr. R. R. Kinkade, one of the officers of the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad, a road which has a voice in establishing freight rates from the Ohio coal fields to the lake ports. Mr. W. K. Warwick, of Massillon, a mine owner, the son of Congressman Warwick, was also at the Weddell House. He was accompanied by Mrs. Warwick and their children. Mr. W. J. Trodo, another coal man of Massillon, is at the American House. Mr. Hadley said that the fact that several coal operators were in the city had no significance and that they did not come here to hold a meeting.—Cleveland Herald, 9th.

Herman Denies It.

Herman Baumbach is clamoring for an investigation of the infirmary board. The Bee stated yesterday that it was intimated that the infirmary people were paying $17 a hundred for certain meats. It should have been $17 per barrel.

"It's all nonsense," Director Herman Baumbach said this morning. "We pay only $4 and $6 a hundred."

Mr. Baumbach made quite a point on the unintentional mistake.

"It was $17 a barrel that was meant."

"Well, even that wouldn't be correct. We buy our meats the cheapest we can and court investigation."

The attention of the members of the board of revision has been called to the matter, and Mr. Baumbach will likely have his investigation all right enough.

Social Evening Spent.

The monthly business and social session of St. John's chapter of the Epworth league occurered last evening in the church parlors on Magnolia street. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. J. W. St. John, and several items of business were disposed of. Following this a brief program was observed: Piano duet, Miss Lizzie Quick, Miss Flora Van Gorder; solo, Mary and John, Carroll Webster; reading, The Fate of Henry Chubb, John Parke; solo, Miss Bessie Gould; trio, Misses Mabel McAfee, Birdie and Daisy Jones. President A. B. Hood announced that the delegates to the Perrysburg convention would be given prior to the session, as the list was not yet prepared. A social hour was then spent.

Funeral of Mrs. Bateman.

The funeral services for Mrs. Bateman, this morning, were beautiful, impressive and comforting. Rev. Dr. Jennings officiated, reading the scripture: "The Lord is my Shepherd," and then, by request, Edwin's Arnold's exquisite poem, "He and She." He then gave an appreciative sketch of Mrs. Bateman's life, paying just and high tribute to her ability in both literature and art, and to her social geniality. He mentioned the many times the New Century club and reading circles had met in her pleasant home, and the enjoyment of these occasions were greatly due to her gift of hospitality. It was the tribute of a friend, to which the many dear friends who listened could say heartily, amen and amen.

The casket was covered with flowers and the rooms were sweet with their beauty and perfume. Tenderly the precious dust was carried to its last rest in Woodlawn. Relatives and friends from Detroit, Dundee and Milan, Mich., were present.

Crescent Livery Company Sued

In common pleas court to-day Ida Skelly sued the Crescent Livery company to recover $5,000 damages for personal injury. She alleges that on June 23, 1892, she was a passenger in a hack which was owned by the defendant and driven by an employe who was conveying her from a point in the Fifth ward to a cemetery in the Sixth ward; that when the hack was reurning from the cemetery, the petition alleges, that the driver of the hack stopped and entered at a saloon, carelessly leaving the team unhitched. During his absence the team became frightened and ran away, and she received lasting and permanent injury.

Elderkin Found Guilty.

The jury in the Elderkin insurance case reported at 2:30 this afternoon, returning a verdict of guilty. He was charged with refusing to permit the state insurance inspector to examine his books.

Bad Thing to Get in a Hurry.

A quarter-column screed was last evening devoted in the Blade to the city engineer's department, which was about as near correct as such articles usually are. The facts are that all the preliminary arrangements for the sewer referred to were completed prior to Mr. Miller's term, in fact the sewer itself was almost finished. From the papers on file in the office it will be made apparent that the committee or engineer is in no way to blame for the error. The sheets submitted for the committee's consideration showed that the property was all located in Shaw's addition, when one of the names should have been Fitch. This is a slip which is liable to occur with any draughtsman. As to the "greenness" of the committee, the suggestion provokes a laugh. Judge Henry L. Lorenz, Michael Quinlan and Thomas Bell, three old and respected citizens, composed the assessors' board, and they are as good as are to be found in the city. There may be blame and some annoyance, but it is well to locate the same where it belongs.

Local Labor Notes.

At the meeting of the Talleymen's union last night three new members were admitted and five applications for membership were received. This union will be in line on Labor day.

The Amalgamated Building Trades council at the meeting last night discussed plans for the celebration of Labor day. They will parade in the morning at 10 o'clock, and will then march to their picnic grounds on Collingwood avenue.

Catholic Knights of Ohio.

A merry time was indulged in by the Catholic Knights of Ohio of the Fifth and Ninth wards last evening. The event was the installation of officers of the order for the ensuing year.

The program was introduced by a few pleasant remarks from President Phelan, which were followed by a comic song by James Nugent and a recitation by Miss Mamie Whalen, both being exceptionally well rendered.

Then came the installation of officers, this ceremony being conducted by John O'Grady.

Miss Loretta Cavanaugh then sang a solo entitled "I Cannot Catch the Sunshine," which was well received. This was followed by some very sweet instrumental music by Messrs. May, Campbell and Schulty, a trio consisting of a mandolin, guitar and harmonica.

Misses Agnes and Loretta Cavanaugh then rendered a very pretty piano duet.

J. L. Burns sang a song which elicited much applause, and the warbling by the harmonica club made a hit.

The officers installed were: President, J. C. Phelan; vice-president, Wm. C. Coyle; recording secretary, Joe Murphy; treasurer, Michael Walsh; trustee three years, J. O'Grady.

CALLED THE POLICE.

Seance at the Toledo Medical College.

Chief Raitz Takes Possession of the Institution,

The Havighorst Faction Has Its Innings and Elects Directors and Officers.

The Havighorst-Gardiner faction of the Toledo Medical college feud had its innings last night.

The Austin et al. crowd heard of a meeting the former was to hold in the college, and at once rushed to the institution, where it was found that the meeting was in progress.

The indignant Austin people at once called the police, who, as soon as they arrived, took possession of the building.

Dr. Gillette notified Chief Raitz, and he sent a posse of men post haste, and arrived in time to interrut the meeting.

It is alleged that Dr. Havighorst and his people broke into the building by removing a light from an upper window.

The meeting was brief but businesslike. Dr. Gardiner was elected president and Dr. H. S. Havighorst secretary.

The Austin faction were furious when it was learned that those recently ousted from the directory had obtained possession of the building.

Dr. Gardiner, speaking with a Bee this afternoon, said the meeting was called to elect a board of directors and officers.

"When we went to the college we found the door locked," he said, "and the janitress told us Dr. Gilette had the keys. We sent for them, but Dr. Gilette refused to give them up.

"While our meeting was in progress Judge Austin and Dr. Gillette, accompanied by two policemen, drove up in the patrol wagon and interrupted our meeting. That was all."

"Were there any arrests?"

"No. Judge Austin said arrest those interlopers.' The policemen undertook to arrest us and I asked, 'Have you got warrant?' and he said 'No.' Well, then I said, on what charge do you arrest us? They said for breaking into this building. But, I said, this is our property. So the policemen phoned down to Chief Raitz for instructions, and he told them as long as there were no disturbances for them to go back home, which they did and there were no arrests."

Drs. Carpenter and Havighorst and Judge Austin and Dr. Gillette held [illegible] foot, and neither would give up possession.

Judge Austin finally called in Chief Raitz, who appeared on the scene.

The Austin people wanted to put the building in charge of the janitress, but to this Dr. Carpenter objected, and said the building should remain in the hands of the chief of police.

This was finally agreed to, and Chief Raitz took the key and will keep charge of the building until some terms of agreement have been settled.

Speaking with a Bee this afternoon President Austin said: "The Havighorst crowd broke into the building but decamped when they found the police coming. We tried to oust them from our property, of course, and we propose holding our own."

The election of officers by the Gardiner Havighorst faction resulted as follows: President, Dr. W. G. Gardiner; secretary, Dr. Havighorst; treasurer, Dr. Blaine; directors, Drs. Blaine, Havighorst, Gardiner, John Murphy, Eberth F. J. Green, and Kenute; trustees, Drs. Havighorst, Gardiner, Patterson and Murphy. The trustees elected the following officers: President, Dr. Gardiner; secretary, Dr. Havighorst; treasurer, Dr. Murp

THE CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP.

General Feeling That Judge Scribner

Should Succeed Himself—Party Conventions May Nominate, but the People Will do the Voting.

The nomination of a circuit judge to succeed Judge Scribner continues to excite interest, and the people generally, without regard to party, desire that the learned jurist shall retain his seat. Today's Sandusky Register, edited by a pretty good republican, Col. I. F. Mack, has the following to say editorially on the subject:

This judicial district for circuit court is composed of eight counties: Williams, Wood, Fulton, Lucas, Sandusky, Erie, Huron and Ottawa.

Last November they gave McKinley 2,249 majority over Jim Campbell in a total vote of 63,000. Judge Scribner, democrat, is willing to accept another term, and it has been suggested that he be indorsed by the republicans. To this the Toledo Blade stoutly objects. It objects on the ground that his re-election will strengthen the democracy to the extent of his salary for the term, $36,000.

It is a misfortune to the country that partisan politics is allowed to influence the choice of judges of the courts. Last year in this common pleas district the people were confronted by the nomination of a grossly unfit man by the democracy. The district was regarded as democratic by a safe majority. To defeat the unfit candidate we appealed to democrats to support the republican candidate and the appeal was not in vain.

There were hundreds of democrats who threw their partisanship to the dogs and went in for the election of a republican because he was understood to be the better man. That was as it should be. Judge Scribner is unquestionably qualified. No doubt the republicans can, if they wish, nominate as competent a man, but if they are determined to make a political nomination they must furnish the equal of Judge Scribner or be defeated. The people will not be bound by party rules in the choice of judges, a fact the politicians of both parties ought to consider.

Pesky Politice Warps Judgement.

Last evening's Bowling Green Sentinel has a very kind notice relative to Judge Scribner, but Mr. Brewer spoils it all by a concluding "but," which is rather unworthy. It is pretty hard for dyed-in-the-wool party men to overlook the possibility of securing an office for one of their number. The following is the Sentinel's paragraph:

"A successor is to be elected to Hon. C. H. Scribner, of the circuit bench of this district, this year. Judge Scribner is the only democratic member of the bench of this circuit; he is a man of eminent ability—the only evidence of a weak spot about him, somewhere, being the fact that he is a democrat—and personally we would not be disposed to care much if he was re-elected, as we have always believed that the judiciary and politics should not be mixed; but, there is 2,000 republican majority in this judicial district, and surely we can find, among the republicans of the 10 counties, a lawyer just as capable as Judge Scribner."

AN OIL PIPE LINE

Under Construction to East Toledo Brick Yards.

The Paragon Refining Company Will Solve the Knotty Fuel Problem to Toledo Manufacturers.

The question of fuel for manufactories, so far as Toledo is concerned, is practically settled, and the much despised Ohio oil is the redeeming factor.

It is only a question of time, and a very short time at that, when all of Toledo's factories will be supplied with fuel oil from a pipe line, just as natural gas is consumed at the present time.

The Paragon oil company has constructed a pipe line from the oil fields, which conveys crude oil into Toledo.

The company is now preparing to distribute the oil to the various manufactories over the city for fuel purposes.

Construction on one line is already under way to two consumers. The line when completed will extend from the main line on Front street to the Findlay Hydraulic Pressed Brick company's plant on Grand street, near the Belt railway, and to the Ceramic Fire Clay company's plant in the same locality.

Speaking with a Bee on the subject of oil as a fuel, Mr. Frank Gifford said: "In my opinion Ohio oil will solve the vexed qusetion of ful for manufactories. Now, it can be handled with as much convenience and dispatch as gas, and the nauseating stench is obliterated in its confinement within the inner recesses of cast iron pipes. Oil can be consumed with just as much economy as gas, and business men are beginning to figure out this fact.

"There are hundreds of factories running on oil to-day against ten last year, and inquiry increases every day, regardless of the advanced prices."

"How about the supply giving out?"

"I believe that the supply is inexhaustible. It is quite true the older fields decline to some extent after a certain time, but after the first or second years' spurts they generally settle down to a medium production and continue for years. On the other hand, there are constantly new fields developed. The Woodville field is the latest in Ohio. This is new yet, but even at this early date the production is far greater than any pool yet developed in Ohio. It has a daily production of 8,000 barrels."

SMALL-POX.

Preparing for the Disease Should Toledo Suffer.

Pest House Grounds Obtained—What Health Officer Fisher Has to Say on the Subject.

Last evening the council passed a resolution to purchase property for the erection of a pest-house. Health Officer Fisher was seen by a Bee this morning regarding the matter. "There are indications," said the doctor, "that smallpox prevails in the country at present, and when it is remembered that the disease does not exist during hot weather, the heat killing the smallpox germs, the prevalence of the disease at all at this time is menacing. The secretary of the state board of health, Dr Probst, has urged that I take precautionary steps immediately. Other states are also urging the matter along. There seems to be a general feeling of insecurity. If a cold wave favorable to the disease comes on, we can not tell what will happen. In time of peace it is well to prepare for war.

"We have purchased six and five-eights acres of land in Washington township, on which will be erected a hospital for infectious and contagious diseases. The ground is high and dry, away from inhabited buildings, and made accessible by good roads.

"At the remote end of the property, 1,300 feet from the street, the pest house will be erected. At about the center of the tract a diphtheria and scarlet fever hospital will be erected, and out on the street it is intended to put up a neat department building for offices, the superintendent, medicines, etc.

"The hospital buildings will be of wood, substantial but cheap. They will be so arranged as to facilitate cleanliness, and insure perfect sanitary conditions.

"They will be accessible from the north end of the city, out Central avenue, and from the south end out Monroe street, and Upton avenue."

Those who have given the matter thought agree with the health officer that the necessity for immediate action is apparent. There are 14 cases of small pox in New York, 48 cases at Victoria, B. C., cases in Pittsburg, up in Rhode Island, and elsewhere.

A VIENNA DOCTOR SUES A WELL-KNOWN NEW YORK DRUGGIST.

(Special from The Eve. Telegraph).

There is a case on the calendar of the United States circuit court which, on account of the prominence of the parties interested and the amount of money involved, promises to be interesting.

Dr. Karl Schindler-Barnay, of Vienna, is the plaintiff, and he sues Richard A. Hudnut and R. Hudnut's pharmacy for $100,000 damages, for alleged infringement of his trade mark, and he also prays the court to grant a permanent injunction restraining the defendants from further imitating the plaintiff's well-known Marienbad Reduction Pills.

Dr. Schindler-Barnay is a physician of Vienna, a manufacturer of pills which are supposed to reduce the avordupois of people whose waistbands are uncomfortably tight, and he alleges that the defendants are, and have for some time, been manufacturing a counterfeit of his pills, and also fraudulently using his trade mark, fac simile signature, testimonials and treatises.

Dr. Schindler-Barnay is quite a celebrity in the treatment of obesity. His works on this subject have been printed in all languages. Among the patients whom he has treated figures Empress Eugenie of France, Queen Isabelle of Spain, Duchess of Metternich, many opera singers and most of the personages in high life who partake too much of the good things of this world.

He is a regular consulting physician at Marienbad, the rendezvous bathing place of people from all nations who suffer of too much avordupois. His genuine pills are imported by Eisner & Mendelson Co., New York, who are his agents for the United States.

City Auditor's Office.

Toledo, O., August 4, 1892.

The City of Toledo, by its Board of Park Commissioners, and the undersigned, invite sealed proposals at this office to

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1892,

at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purchase of City of Toledo Park Bonds to the amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000), issued in pursuance of authority conferred by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, and resolution of the Board of Park Commissioners, for the purpose of providing means to pay for park lands. Said bonds are of the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars each, and dated July 1, 1892, to run for a period of 50 years from date, and are made payable at the Importers' and Traders' National bank, in the City of New York, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place, evidenced by proper coupons attached to said bonds.

No proposal will be accepted for less than par and accrued interest from date of said bonds to date of delivery at Toledo.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and resolutions. When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the "Auditor of the City of Toledo, Ohio," and be endorsed "Proposals for Park Bonds."

JAS. H. PHEATT, City Auditor.

Tom Platt says Blaine wont do any such thing. The question is, does Tom Platt know?

Denver is all-glorious with banners, bunting and enthusiasm. Here's to the city, the crowd and the cause.

Says an exchange, "the laboring man, more than any other, needs the strong arm of the law for protection." Why should he?

Glass beads are as old as the oldest records of Babylon and Assyria, and the McKinley tax is the first thing of the kind that has ever happened them.

India is coming to the World's fair; that's right, children of the sun and the That's right, children of the sun and the tea chest. It's a good time to study competition with China, in this country.

Wages have advanced in free-trade England, and declined in protected Germany, within the last few years, but the tax organs are not mentioning these facts, in conjunction.

Bismarck thinks because he erected the German empire, it is his province to pull it to pieces if he cannot rule it. It is beginning to be understood why "the iron chancellor" was dismissed from the councils of state.

The Hungarian shanties at Homestead that rent for $3 a month, are not the ones with pianos in the parlors. The tenants have been evicted and some fresh Hungarians are put in their places. And thus protection from pauper labor goes merrily on.

In one column of a tax organ, in a paragraph of McKinley speech, is the item "fuel," with others, which the "bill" has made cheaper to the consumer. In another column of the same issue is this significant news note: "The recent rise in anthracite coal is a matter of $1 and $1.25 dropped in the pockets of the coal barons."

The republican organs which went to the extreme of defending Col. Streator in the Iams punishment case, are mad at themselves since they learn that Streator is "a prominent democrat." Democrats denounced his action from principle, without reference to politics. And that's the difference. Republicans continue to run their politics on the old Thad Stevens plan: "Of course I'll vote for him; which is our scoundrel?"

The republicans of Chicago have, or, more properly speaking, the republican mayor of Chicago has, created a new office—chief headsman and spoils dispenser. His name is Jamieson, a Scotch Canadian, with a will and a way that shows results. Within the last three months he has removed 700 officeholders and the executions continue in that proportion, all in the interest of the republican party. To the victors belong the spoils, says Jamieson.

The organs that prove too much in their anxiety to handle all the grist, are telling of the poor condition of laborers in France and Germany, as compared with our own, and one over-zealous editor asks workingmen, by these presents, to vote for the high-tax ticket. But France and Germany are both protected countries, and "the astute Bismarck" was patted affectionately for "modeling a tariff for Germany after our own." This kind of argument is difficult to comprehend.

Westward the star keeps moving. So do the college professors, drawn hither by larger salaries and better equipment. Dr. Charles Kendall Adams, who goes from Cornell to become president of the Wisconsin university, says, in the Ithaca Journal:

> In the departments of the natural sciences and in agriculture the University of Wisconsin are the foremost west of New England. Contracts are let for the building of a gymnasium and armory, 200x100 feet in dimensions and four stories in height, by far the largest and most commodious buildings of the kind in the country, and a new law building is in course of construction.

Gen. Clarkson, Secretary Elkins, Michener of Indiana, and a couple of machine republican politicians in Kansas, Nettleton and Earle, are about to engage in the erection of a sugar beet factory, at Leavenworth. The enterprise is heralded as "a republican sugar plant." With two cents a pound bounty on the raw material and a big tax on the people to pay over to the refineries, we agree with the "republican firm" that there is money in it. If the profits are not enough to suit them, they have only to go up to Washington and have the thing fixed—that is, if their machine keeps on running at the capital.

The most rantankerous hater of the United States on Canadian soil is the Toronto Empire, which was established a few years since as the official government organ. While it represents the government it does not express the sentiment of the people, as has frequently been shown. So, while working itself into a fever of passion over the present canal discussion, it has the sympathy of extremists only. The vast majority of Canadians, in both provinces, Quebec and Ontario, favor fair play, honorable dealing, and honest adjustment of all differences between the States and Canada. This very element of fairness, and the growing sentiment favorable to reciprocity of trade, will continue to draw the two countries into closer trade relations and to ultimate annexation. Perhaps this is what the Empire most fears.

HOMESTEAD FIGURES.

The total population of Homestead is 7,911, and the number of men employed in the works is about 3,800. At the last election the total vote was only 845, less than one-fourth of the number of men employed in the mills, which indicates that a large majority of the workers are unnaturalized foreigners, and not "protected American laborers." Of the 845 votes cast, Pattison got 427 and Delamater 406, which would seem to show, also, that the intelligent workingmen know the fraud there is in protection so far as their interests are concerned.

FACTS ARE WHAT BOTHER.

Ex-Minister Charles Emory Smith, good man, is quoting in his paper, the Philadelphia Press, extracts from Col. McClure's old editorials and calling Gov. McKinley's attention to them as good points to hitch onto, in that debate, into which the governor is not willing to enter. Go in, William, they'll all give you pointers and you'll need them. That threadbare speech you are giving to the western winds won't wear in the remotest community, a great while longer. But remember, when you go for "old McClure" you'll have to stick to facts. There's the rub.

SHORT CROPS.

Milling experts in Minneapolis estimate a shortage of 30,000,000 bushels of wheat in Minnesota and the two Dakotas. The country north of the Northern Pacific railway will yield about 60 per cent. of last year's crop. The southern section of the northwestern wheat area will produce better and show a slight increase. In very few sections of the country will the wheat crop be an average.

Not only is the shortage noted in wheat, but bad reports are received from corn and potatoes, and all kinds of fruit except grapes and pears. It seems to be an off year for harvest fields and orchards, as consumers will have reason to regret before winter.

THE "AMERICAN SYSTEM."

> To say the tariff is an American system is to betray a pitiful ignorance, for it is no more American than the many other things that have come to America by inheritance from the older countries. The American system of protection came to America from England, where it prevailed for many a generation. But it did not originate in England. The British copied it from the south of Europe where it had been in use for hundreds of years. —Bradford Era.

What a set-back, from republican authority, too. Mr. McKinley thought he invented the tax system. Tarifa was the name of a city at the southwest end of the Mediteranean, where toll duties were collected of vessels passing through into the sea. Its ancestry dates back to feudal times, when nations warred upon one another, and their fortresses bristled with "protection." It dates back to the year 710, when the town was named for a Saracen chief who extorted tribute without mercy. Its ancestry is nothing for present-day progressionists to be particularly proud of.

WILL IT PAY?

Honestly, now, all partisanship aside, does the 8,000,000 pounds of tin, made from Welsh plate dipped in imported ore, offset the $15,000,000 the tax payers of this country have had to put up during the time to make this dipping "industry" possible? The foreigners cannot pay this tax, because, don't you see, the McKinley bill has closed the factories in Wales and the workmen are starving, except those who have gotten into this country to help do the dipping. Tin plate can be made in this country at this rate; to be sure it can and no dreadful democrat ever denied the possibility. The opposition organs purposely misquote us. So could black tea be raised in hot houses and fine linens be bleached under glass and by artificial moisture; but the question is, will it pay, at this cost? Does it aid in the general prosperity to thus boost and prop up certain businesses, which show no indications of natural and healthy growth if the nursing bottle be removed?

THE TRUTH OF IT.

It must give republicans great satisfaction to insist that the congressional report on the Homestead investigation would have been withheld until after the campaign, had not "Mr. Oates risen above party" and proceeded to give it now. Mr. Oates' co-investigators thought the report should be given in its completed form after the work was concluded. Mr. Oates, chairman, preferred to give it now, supplemented with the statement that "the investigation will be completed next session." Mr. Oates is cosiderably interested in the iron and steel of his own state and like too many others, wants some phase of the tribute system shown up, that he and his state are not especially interested in. To an outsider it looks more and more as if the tax should be knocked from the several hundred articles of iron and steel manufacture and let the employers and the employed take their chances with the unprotected majority. The Carnegies can undersell England in the world's markets and the only excuse for the tax now is, that they may "regulate" home prices and not be subjected to the natural fluctuations of trade. Is the giant still an infant?

NO MONEY FOR PUMPS.

Why the Sinking Fund Trustees Must Refuse

To Help Out the Gas Trustees in Their Pump-Purchasing Deal—Mr. Davis Talks.

The application of the gas trustees to the sinking fund board for relief in the present and pressing emergency for money to buy pumps will receive a negative response.

"We cannot let them have the money," Mr. Geo. W. Davis, president of the board, said to a Bee this morning, "for the very simple reason that we have none to give. We have not received our share of the June collections yet, and may not for some time."

"Will you be in a position to help the gas trustees when the collection is paid over?"

"I am afraid not. You see we are first obliged to look after the interest on our bonds—there's the interest on $750,000 gas bonds to be paid and then comes the final judgments, which also must be paid."

"Will you have anything left when these debts are met?"

Probably $10,000 will remain for us to use."

"You can buy gas bonds with that $10,000, can you not?"

"Yes, we will probably buy some kind of city bonds, but then that's in the future."

Speaking of the gas suits entered against the city Mr. Davis did not know that if the city confessed judgment in the cases that such judgment could be taken as final.

WILL NOT COME.

New York, Aug. 9.—Dr. Schiaparelli has replied to the offer of the proprietor of a weekly paper to bring him to this country to investigate Mars, as follows: "Very thankful for your kind proposal but cannot accept it. Planet too low for good observation. In my opinion next apposition will give better opportunities."

COUNTERFEITERS.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 9.—The arrest of Lee Sturgis and J. M. Dunford for passing counterfeit money, has led to the further arrest of Charles R. and Charles M. Chisholm, in whose house a lot of spurious money was found. A large amount of the money was hot as if it had just been made.

BURGLARS AT FREMONT.

Fremont, O., Aug. 9.—Unknown burglars entered the stores of A. H. Jackson and I. Lytle, two prominent business men of this city, last night. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

WE PRINT THE NEWS.

The Blade Gets Emmick in a Hole.

How the Truth, Though Crushed to Earth, Will Rise Again, Beautifully Illustrated.

There is nothing singular or at all uncommon in the Blade endeavoring to cover the ignominy of a scoop with a baldheaded falsehood. In fact, the thing is so common with the organ on the corner that were it not for the fact that it used as a shield the gentleman who stands at the head of municipal affairs, and who is generally supposed to be troubled with a merry-go-round in his head, the Bee would refrain from noticing the latest illustration of the aforesaid fact.

The following clipping and communications will illustrate to the general public the peculiar tactics of the organ.

In the Bee of Monday, July 25, appeared the following:

> ROBERT BARBER.
>
> The East Sider, Appointed Gas Trustee.
>
> Mayor Emmick Will Make the Official Announcement To-Morrow.
>
> As intimated in the Bee Saturday, Mr. Robert Barber, of the East Side, has been appointed gas trustee in place of Mr. A. L. Backus, resigned.
>
> Mayor Emmick stated to a Bee this afternoon that he had decided to appoint Mr. Barber, and would make the official announcement to-morrow.
>
> Mr. Barber is an old-time democrat, and an ardent pipe-liner.
>
> His appointment will undoubtedly give general satisfaction, as he is a thorough business man and a good citizen.

The next day—Tuesday, July 26—the Blade had the subjoined contradiction (?)

> IT WAS NOT THE TRUTH.
>
> Mayor Emmick Corrects a False Report About the Gas Trusteeship.
>
> "The statement in a democratic evening paper that I have appointed Robert Barber to one of the vacant gas trusteeships, is absolutely untrue," said Mayor Emmick this morning. "I have as yet appointed nobody, nor will I appoint anyone until a joint session of the council is called. Nor have I as yet decided who I will name. Several gentemen have been well recommended. Ex-Mayor Samuel F. Forbes, Robert Barber, and Messrs. Fassett and Daniel Brown have all been suggested. When I make up my mind I will officially state it, but I don't like to be informed by any newspaper that I have made an appointment before I know myself. I wish the Blade would correct it."

That the Bee had printed the truth and nothing but the truth, as it always does, was borne out by Mayor Emmick himself when he presented the following communication to the joint session of the council last evening:

> Toledo, O., Aug. 8.
>
> To the Honorable Common Council.
>
> Gentlemen:—I hereby appoint, subject to your approval, Robert Barber, as trustee of the natural gas works, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Abner L. Backus, until the next annual municipal election.
>
> Respectfully,
> V. J. EMMICK.

The appointment was confirmed, and Mr. Barber is the gas trustee.

THAT STATEMENT.

The Gas Trustees Make a Report,

Which Throws But Little New Light on the Condition of the City Gas Department.

Yesterday afternoon the three gas trustees—Messrs. Greene, Voit and Romeis—had a little private seance, at which the subjoined report was read, adopted and ordered presented to the common council.

Owing to the fact that there is neither gas nor electric light in the board room it was decided to hold the meeting in the afternoon.

Little besides the adoption of the report was transacted.

The advisability of leasing another well was discussed, but the members feared they might be transcending their duties and the matter was accordingly laid over.

The following is the report as presented to the council last evening.

"To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Toledo, O.:

"Gentlemen: We have the honor to report that the city natural gas department is confronted by a condition and not a theory as to the future of this plant.

"The litigation brought by one taxpayer to prevent the issue and sale of $100,000 worth of bonds, intended for the use of this department, to obtain gas to supply 5,658 taxpayers who are using gas from the city lines, seems to have been successful in preventing the disposal of the bonds, notwithstanding the court decisions have all been in favor of the city.

We have about 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily output in the 39 wells now in use by the city. We have over 3,000 acres of territory on which to drill wells. Besides there are many opportunities to obtain gas at reasonable prices, already drilled in, but to enable this board to do business it requires means with which to operate.

We are aware that much comment has been indulged in pro and con, by both pipe-liners and anti-pipe liners. The assertions of the latter have been extreme. They have availed their side of the question much by going into the public press to mould and prejudice public opinion against the management of this department. Consequently many people are laboring under a misapprehension of the true condition of the enterprise and the facts as shown by the department.

It is true that every move made by the trustees has been vigorously opposed by the common enemy. There has not been a time from the commencement of this plant that the department has been free from litigation or injunction. Defeat in one direction meant the beginning of a suit in another; anything to delay and cripple the enterprise.

In the face of all this we have a plant and nearly 6,000 customers who are depending on us for fuel the coming winter. Therefore, the vital question to-day is, shall we have reasonable means with which to operate the plant? Work must be done and done quickly.

The question may be asked, what do the trustees recommend?

First—Give us through the sinking fund trustees, the money that has been earned by this department by cancelling bonds to that amount, viz: $20,000; this amount to be used for new wells.

Second—Then provide the necessary funds to secure a pumping station, say $30,000 more, and we can supply gas for our customers the coming winter.

Under our present embarrassed condition we have delivered gas in Toledo since January 1, 1892, at an average of upwards of $10,000 per month at 8 cents per thousand. But with the gradual diminishing of the pressure in the Stewartville and Bloom township fields it is apparent to us that to secure a fair share of the gas in these fields we must resort to pumps.

We appeal to you to assist in securing the necessary means with which to operate this plant. It seems to us unreasonable that we cannot have the income with which to operate this department.

Many citizens are led to believe that the plant is running in debt and does not pay expenses, because we are asking for more money; they seem to have forgotten that the circuit court has decided that this board had no right to use the income of the plant to keep up its efficiency, but must obtain money for that purpose from other sources, and these sources are closed to us by the litigation of the enemy.

We would also call your attention to the citizens' committee report on the gas plant to the mayor, March 21, 1892.

We feel confident that with the above appropriation the plant will be able to give a good supply of gas, and a satisfactory financial showing, but, however, if the necessary means are not speedily provided it will be utterly impossible with our present facilities, to give to our customers that which they have a right to expect, to-wit, a fair supply of gas.

J. W. GREENE, President.

JESSUP W. SCOTT

Is Made the Text for a Lengthy Article

On the Question of the Center of Population—Deductions Made by the Chicago Herald.

In yesterday's issue of the Chicago Herald is found the following reference to the writings of Mr. Jessup W. Scott, who for many years was a leading citizen and firm believer as to Toledo's future greatness. It will have great local interest, hence it is reprinted:

> There is in the history of civilization no more noticeable failing than the occasional misconception, on the part of interested peoples and states, as to the conditions that create and maintain leading cities. Merely to mention this historical fact is sufficient to the present purpose. Our view must be limited to this country, and to this part of our country mainly; but the writer of reminiscences must be permitted occasionally to go some way afield. Aids to the consideration of our great subject—Chicago—are to be had from a hundred foreign osurces. For what follows the reader will be indebted to an able writer in Hunt's Merchants' Magazine of October, 1848. The character and influence of that publication will be remembered by the older merchants and business men, and the writer whose statements and arguments we shall notice was Jessup W. Scott, of Toledo, Ohio. He wrote to advance the interests of his own town, but his view was so broad, he saw so truly, that he deserves to rank high among men of the greatest foresight. He was a thorough believer in the great west, and he begins his article by saying that 20 years before—which would be in 1824—he made public his opinion that New York would not always be the supreme city in this country. Only a guess at the contents of that first article can be made from the allusions to it contained in the second. He recalled that, at the beginning of the century, when New York had begun fairly to grow, the people of London regarded her first with contempt and then with jealousy. London knew next to nothing of the interior of America, and scouted the idea that a city could ever be built upon the seaboard that would amount to much. Mr. Scott lived to hear Cobden, and even Bright, predict that New York would some day outstrip London. But that is not to the point; he goes on to say that after a time, and when New York's growth was such that London was bound to take notice—when it began to be admitted on the other side of the water that a great city would arise on the eastern coast of the United States—that just then it began to be contended in this country that not New York, but some town in the interior, was destined commercially to dominate the continent. He says that he was the first to make that prediction and give it to the world. To use his own words, "Of this opinion I was the inventor and for many years the sole proprietor." He then shows that the facts and tendencies of the time (1848) were in rapid process of justifying his once exclusive opinion. He never shared the belief that was common in Illinois and was accepted by many in other parts of the country that New Orleans would ever become a great city. He combated the opinions of those who "believed that this outport of the great central valley of North America commanded a destiny, when this valley should become well peopled, that might eclipse the island city of the Hudson."
>
> Mr. Scott wrote in the days before the advent of railroads. Chicago was a town of only 17,000 population in 1848. Toledo was a much smaller town, but then it was about to become the center of production and there, it was hoped, it would be stationary. Cincinnati was the great city, with its 95,000 inhabitants. But Mr. Scott did not believe that Cincinnati would hold the supremacy; he had the correct judgment that told him that the lakes were a better dependence to commerce than the rivers; and he reasoned that Toledo, from its better position at the extremity of Lake Erie, must be the great interior city. He did not fear Chicago, which was too far to the west—he refused to believe that the center of production would ever move again after Toledo was reached. That he had a wrong estimate of Chicago is not surprising, for at the same time many of our own citizens failed to take in the situation. Even a man so far seeing reputedly—so far seeing really—as William B. Ogden declared as late as 1853 that that there never would be a competing railroad with the Michigan Central to the east, and that no other northwestern railroad than the Galena would ever be built. Some allowance must be made on the score of self-interest for these assertions, for at the time Mr. Ogden made them he was attempting to raise money by the sale of Galena bonds. But that his assertions were timidly, if at all challenged, goes to excuse Mr. Scott for his confidence in his town, Toledo. That all western cities were to increase enormously he never doubted. And that their growth would be in far greater ratio than that of the eastern cities he demonstrated. Already in 1848 the interior was doing twenty parts of the commerce of the country to New York's one part and the latest census showed that western cities were increasing three times as fast as eastern. He clinches the argument thus: "When food and raw materials for manufacture are no longer cheaper in the great valley than in the states of the Atlantic and the nations of western Europe, then and not until then, will it cease to be the interest of artisans and manufacturers to prefer a location in western towns and cities. This time will probably be about the period when the Mississippi shall flow towards its head."
>
> Heretofore Mr. Scott has confined his talk to the center of production. Now he at last begins to consider the center of population. It was in 1848 at a point a little west of Pittsburg, and he sees it still moving—its direction, he admits, is toward Chicago. Will the center of production also move—is a question he asks himself. He still hopes for Toledo, but he is convinced that, should the two centers of production and population advance westward to Lake Michigan, then, and in that case, the central power of the continent will have its splendid seat at Chicago. But see him cling to his hope of Toledo! He says: "As these centers move westward toward Chicago the influence of their position will be divided between that city and Toledo, distributing benefits according to the degree of proximity." He complains that New York is scornful and intolerant of his opinions on this subject, but all the same he concludes his article in the Merchants' Magazine with insisting that the leading city of the interior will at the end of the century be larger than New York. In this time of the world's fair this will not be pleasant reading for any that are small-minded on Manhattan island.

REV. UPDIKE

Tells How God Saves a "Good Sinner."

Are There Any Devout and Prayerful People in Toledo?

Rev. Updike took for his subject last night the conversion of Cornelius, and told how God saved a good sinner, taking his text from the 10th chapter and 43d verse of the book of Acts.

He said the great day for the Gentile world was when Peter preached in the house of this centurion. The greatest day to the Jewish world was the day of Pentecost. This man Cornelius was a soldier. A good many people think that a soldier can't be a Christian. They say if I become a Christian I must give up my business, as though any honorable occupation would hinder people from serving God. Cornelius was a soldier, and a good sinner. He was a devout and prayerful man. There are not many sinners in Toledo who are good and prayerful. But so earnest was this man in his prayers, that one day while praying he had a vision. People have visions in these days, but there is nothing in them. In Bible times when people had visions it was always for the benefit of somebody, not for their own individual satisfaction, as is the case with these modern trances. Anything that contradicts common sense can be set aside as worthless.

And this dream of Cornelius was an instruction to him to send for one of God's preachers to come and show him the way of life. The angel said, "Thy prayers and thine alms are come up for a memorial before God." The history of Cornelius says he was not only a devout and God-fearing man, but he gave much alms to the people and prayed to God always. Not every three months, or during revivals, but always. Then he gave much alms. You will find lots of preachers who believe that when the Bible says much water, it means a little, but when it says much alms, it means what it says. Never find a preacher going back on much money.

So the centurion sent for Peter, as commanded, and he came and preached unto them in the words of the text, "To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name, whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins." And the Holy Ghost fell upon them, and they were baptized. The preacher ridiculed the idea that water in the Bible meant the word of God. This scheme of redemption by faith and water has been made so simple that any one can understand its teachings and appreciate its beauty. You can understand it if you will, you can be saved by it if you will. There were five immersions last evening. Rev. Updike will preach to-night on "How God Saved a Sheriff."

GOLD BY THE MILLION.

Five Coach Loads Pass Through Toledo.

Being Taken From San Fancisco to Washington — Soldiers Guard the Treasure, but Are Not Saying a Word.

A train load of gold was in Toledo for a few minutes yesterday afternoon, and excited considerable interest at the Union depot. The train was made up of five coaches, three of them containing the precious treasure of $25,000,000. Superintendent White, of the railway mail service, was in charge, with a full coterie of assistants and 51 soldiers, armed and ready for war.

A Bee attempted to gain some information from Mr. White, but his mouth was as tight as a clam, claiming that his orders were to keep still, and he was certainly observing them. The doors of the cars were kept securely closed, and all that could be seen of the guards was their faces as they peered over the little windows at the tops of the doors.

The doors of the cars were open for a moment at the depot, when pails of water were passed in to the guard. During the entire trip there has not been a light in the cars, night or day. The men eat and sleep in them, and they have to make the best of the darkness. During the trip the utmost secrecy has prevailed. The train was given the right of way on all railroads, and only those directly interested knew when it would reach the different stations.

New York, Aug. 9.—The "treasure" train with $20,000,000 in gold arrived at the Grand Central depot at 11:20 a. m. to-day.

It was the writer's good fortune recently to meet one of that band, the one, indeed, who was said by all who knew him to be the bravest one of them all, the only one who was absolutely fearless upon all times and occasions.

He was a small man, decidedly under the medium in stature and weight, and young, for he looked less than thirty. But in his eyes there was a fearlessness, and his manner and expression said plainly he was no ordinary man.

Certainly, for a man under thirty to have been marshal of the wickedest town on the border, to have cleared it of the worst gang of roughs on the frontier, to have held the palm for courage even among the Texas rangers, never to have given up a contest, even when the roughs were three to one, and never to have failed to get the man he went for proves a man to be decidedly more than the ordinary.

But he was as modest as he was brave, and only the utmost persuasions of old-time friendship by one of the party could induce him to speak a word about his adventures. And when he did begin to tell of his own and his fellow-rangers' deeds of daring, he constantly tried to belittle his own actions and merits.

Here is one of the tales that he told, after having said, in depreciation of some remark about his courage, that a man may get a reputation for pluck which he doesn't deserve through circumstances that he cannot control.

"For instance," he said, "there was an incident once while I was with the rangers which won for me more reputation for nerve and grit than anything else that I ever did. But I really did not deserve it.

"A party of two cowboys had been getting drunk in El Paso and chasing around town rather lively, but they hadn't done anything we could arrest them for until at the end of their spree they came galloping up to the police station. A policeman off duty stood in the doorway. They barely reined in their horses, calling out to him that they were going to kill a policeman and he'd do just as well as any. Then they pumped lead at him until they emptied their revolvers, when off they went again as fast as their horses could gallop.

"The whole affair did not last more than five seconds. We thought the policeman would be killed, of course, and he thought he had been killed and was ready to drop down dead.

"But it was a case of the most phenomenally bad shooting you ever heard of, and maybe, too, a providential escape. A cowboy is generally about as bad a marksman as ever tried to use a gun, and a man's aim isn't made any steadier by his being as drunk as they were. But when all's said that can be there's a little of the miraculous still left in that man's escape.

"Each one of the cowboys had a six-shooter and had pumped its full contents just as straight at that man as could be.

"But not a bullet out of the dozen touched his body. Every article of clothing that he had on was riddled. There were bullet holes in his hat, in his coat, in his pants and boots, and even in his collar and his stockings. But not one of the bullets had even grazed his skin.

"As soon as possible we started in pursuit of the cowboys. The captain of the rangers, myself and one other formed the party. We knew where they were camped and started straight for them. There was a high brush fence between their camp and the road, and, expecting pursuit, they had made as much of a barricade with their wagons and camp outfit as possible. There were two others in the party, so they were four against our three. We arranged that the captain and the other man were to lead the attack and I was to bring up the rear, coming between them.

"Their horses both stopped at the brush fence, stood on their hind legs and danced. The captain drew back a little and made for the fence again. He tried to get between two good-sized saplings that stood in his way, but they were too close together. They bent nearly double with the shock and the captain turned a double somersault over the horse's tail.

"The boys had discovered us by that time and had already begun to bang away at us, so there was no time to fool. I put spurs to my horse and he took that fence like a bird. I knew he would, for he had been used in cross-country riding. As we landed inside he got a slight flesh wound in one leg from one of their bullets, and he just took the bit in his mouth and went through that camp like a whirlwind on skates.

"The boys went pumping at me with their Winchesters, and I just lay down on my horse's neck, aimed for the bunch with my revolver and let drive as fast as she'd go.

"That horse made straight for the camp, and careered through the campfire like an avenging angel. He scattered the pots and pans hither and yon, and plastered coals and baked beans and bacon all over the surrounding country. And all the time the boys were banging at me with their Winchesters, and I, from my flying horse was popping at them with my revolver.

"And in the meantime the captain and the other man were dancing their horses on the other side of the fence. At last they got over and galloped to my assistance. By that time I'd got my horse under control, and we surrounded the camp. The boys made no further fight, but surrendered at once. One of them had been killed and another wounded, but not one of us had even a scratch.

"That reckless dash of my horse through the camp and the camp-fire right in the very teeth of the cowboys and their Winchesters, while my friends were still on the other side of the fence, got me, as I said before, more reputation than anything else I ever did.

"But suppose when he took the bit in his mouth that he'd started off in the other direction. I couldn't have stopped him any more than I could as it was. And a nice reputation for cowardice I'd have got then, wouldn't I? But I'd have merited it about as little as I deserved the other."

HE WAS A SPUNKY FELLOW.

"Well," said Mrs. Bruggins after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "if that ain't the rudest thing I ever saw!"

"What?" inquired her niece.

"Why, didn't you notice it? Just as soon as that young man began to sing every other member of the choir stopped. But he went right through with it, and I must say I admire his spunk."—Washington Star.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

General d'Andlau, the unsavory hero of the scandal over the sale of decorations in France, whose death was reported, is said to be still living in Buenos Ayres, where he runs a "small game."

Joseph Cook, the noted Boston author and lecturer, is described as a broad shouldered man with a massive head and intellectual face framed in becoming side whiskers of mixed gray and red, and kindly features illumined by a pair of large blue eyes.

Gen. Prim, who was Spanish minister of war for two years, held that office longer than any of his predecessors during the present century. There have been 194 ministers of war in Spain during the century, the average time of service being six months.

SNAKES WITH LONG LIFE.

After the Frozen Reptiles Had Been Heated Up They Became Very Lively.

The tenacity of life possessed by snakes is very wonderful, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Last winter some men were digging a well out in the county and close to the Meramec, when they came on a cavity in the ground which contained a nest of snakes. The weather was bitterly cold and the snakes were apparently dead. They were all blacksnakes and harmless, so the men loaded them into the bucket and sent them to the top, just for a curiosity.

They were thrown out on the ground and in a little while were frozen as stiff as so many sticks. Their bodies became so brittle with the frost that in handling them several were broken like icicles. One of the men when he went home at night took two or three of the largest along to frighten his wife. He succeeded very well, and, leaving the snakes on the floor in the kitchen before the fire, sat down to eat his supper, forgetting all about them.

While the meal was in progress his wife, who had left the room, suddenly gave a terrific scream that made him jump up in a panic and run to see what was the matter. As he opened the kitchen door she fell against him, almost fainting with fright, and too badly scared to tell what ailed her. He soon found out, for on going in he at first thought he "had 'em again," for the room seemed full of snakes. Warmed by the genial glow of the kitchen fire the frozen snakes had come to life and were coursing round the room with soul-chilling energy.

He did not care to tackle the job of killing them there, so he pushed the outer door open and they soon found their way out, and had not gone a hundred yards before they were stiff as ever with the cold. He followed them out and finished them with a pole, but says he will never trust a snake again, no matter how hard frozen.

INFANT FEEDING.

Its Influence Upon Life During August.

Causes and Prevention of the Fearful Cholera Infantum.

Nearly Eighty Per Cent of Babies Dying From Faulty Nutrition.

No summer in a long while has seen so many deaths from cholera infantum in this and other states.

Fresh air funds and excursions by the score do not seem to mitigate the evil.

It is the little children and the babies, in city and country, whom this hot weather carries off so suddenly.

In New York city the number of deaths of little children for the last several weeks has equaled the number of births. In one week the Bureau of Vital Statistics in that city recorded 1,336 deaths, an increase of more than a third over the average number, and 900 were of children under 5 years. From other cities and the towns where mortality returns are kept, there come similar reports.

And it is all because mothers, through ignorance or carelessness, or both, do not keep the little weaklings properly fed.

Out of 1,117 deaths investigated in New York state, 79 per cent. occurred in children affected with diseases arising from defective or faulty nutrition!

It was found that children who got sufficient and healthful breast milk, or, failing in that, were fed upon lactated food, which is the best known substitute for pure mother's milk—it was found that instances of cholera infantum in these cases were so extremely rare that it could be emphatically said that improper feeding was principally the direct and partly the co-operative cause of the great mortality.

Lactated food is beyond question the safest and the most nourishing food for infants next to pure mother's milk, and should be used whenever the mother begins to bring up her child "by hand." It contains the same ingredients as mother's milk, and is as pure and healthful as the air among the Vermont hills, where it is made. It may be bought of any reliable druggist, and is as economical as it is good. For 25 cents a package may be bought sufficient to make 10 pints of nourishing food, and a package that sells for a dollar contains enough for 150 meals.

The greatest care should be taken with the baby this month, and the infant's food calls for the most attention.

IN TENNESSEE.

Democratic State Convention Called to Order.

Every Evidence of a Spirited Contest for the Gubernatorial Contest at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug 9.—The democratic state convention was called to order by Chairman J. W. Baker of the state central committee. The indications all point toward Peter Turney, who has been on the bench for thirty years and is now chief justice of the supreme court of this state, as the nominee for governor.

In fact Turner has secured two-thirds of the delegates, and the recent withdrawal of Gov. Buchanan leaves him in undisputed possession of the field. Buchanan's retirement from the contest a week ago is the political sensation of the campaign, and it is not yet clear just how that event will effect the situation.

Gov. Buchanan was president of the state farmers' alliance when he was nominated for governor by the democrats two years ago. His nomination was distasteful to the anti-alliance wing of that party, and his continued silence regarding the sub-treasury scheme and other pet measures of the alliance has added to the estrangement until finally an anti-administration movement was inaugurated in which some of the oldest party leaders participated. Chief Justice Turney was called upon to assume the lead of the opposition.

Turney's success in manipulating the primaries and county conventions, and the determined warfare which his wing of the party has waged upon the alliance, disgusted Buchanan to such an extent that he gave up all hopes of receiving the nomination from the present convention. It is generally thought that he will announce himself as an independent democratic candidate, and that his candidacy will be indorsed by the people's party convention to be held next week.

The republicans, of course, are jubilant over the prospect of a row in the democratic camp and are putting renewed strength into their campaign. The prohibitionists also have a ticket in the field, and between the four candidates the game of polites promises to be an exciting one in this state during the coming three months.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

WISCONSIN.

The Supreme Court to Look Into the Apportionment Law.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 9.—The supreme court of Wisconsin assembled at noon today, and it is generally thought that Attorney General O'Connor will enter a motion before the day is over on behalf of C. E. Lamb, of this city, petitioning the court for leave to bring action in the name of the attorney general against the secretary of state to enjoin him from executing the apportionment law passed by the recent special session of the legislature.

In case the attorney general refuses to make the motion it may be made by the petitioner himself.

From the petition it appears that the rule of equity of representation required by the constitution has been violated, and in some cases the number of voters included in a republican district is more than twice as large as the registered vote of districts that are known to be democratic. The petition sets forth that in this way it is sought to increase the number of democrats in the coming legislature and to defraud the republican party of its rightful representation. The supreme court of this state and that of Michigan having just been over the same ground an early decision is looked for. In case the decision goes against the democrats the republican apportionment of 1887 will go into effect. The democrats, in this case, will try to have this law declared unconstitutional, and to have the present democratic body hold over as the de facto legislature.

I prescribe Simmons Liver Regulator, and it deserves all the praise it receives.—Dr. D. W. Atkinson, Siloam Springs, Ark.

THE GRIDIRON CLUB.

Resolutions on Senate Clerk Young's Case.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The following explains itself:

The Gridiron Club,
Washington, May 28, 1892.

To the Members of the Gridiron Club:

In view of the fact that there will be no regular meeting of the club until next October, the executive committee, believing that the club should take some action in regard to the case of Mr. James R. Young, former executive clerk of the senate, submit the following for the signature of the members:

"The Gridiron club having knowledge and experience of the methods by which news of the executive sessions of the senate is procured by the Washington correspondents, and having absolute faith in the integrity and fidelity of Mr. James R. Young, declares its total disbelief in the imputations against his character in the senate of the United States, and puts on record its abhorrence of the unmanly and discreditable method in which he was ejected from a body in which he was entitled to expect fair play and entire justice."

Officially this city is practically deserted, Secretary of State Foster being the only representative of the cabinet here. At the white house things wear a decidedly deserted appearance, owing to the absence of the president and his family, and the usual summer overhauling of the building, which is now being done.

The carpets have been taken up and aired, the furniture completely hidden with white linen, and over the huge chandeliers folds of netting hang to protect them during the hot weather. At the war department Assistant Secretary Grant presides at the head of the department. The affairs of the navy are likewise looked after by Assistant Secretary Soley in the absence of Secretary Tracy, who is north, while Attorney-General Miller, Postmaster-General Wanamaker, Secretary Noble and Secretary Rusk are all away. Mr. Wharton, assistant secretary of state, returned this morning from Tuxedo, and was at his desk later in the day. The warm weather has had the effect of causing the different departments to be closed an hour earlier than usual.

PANIC-STRICKEN.

Russia's Capital Invaded by the Cholera —Shops Closed.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 9.—Appalling reports have been received of the ravages of the cholera in the governments of Saratoff and Samara. It is officially reported that the deaths number not less than 3,000.

The city is in a panic. A woman who was seized with cholera yesterday died within a few hours, and all doubt has now disappeared that cholera has invaded the capital. The rich, who are able to get away, are flying to health resorts, and merchants are closing their shops. The governor of the city has issued a proclamation begging the people to be calm, and giving directions as to preventive measures.

The latest advices from Moscow state that the panic there is increasing, notwithstanding the efforts of the authorities to suppress any general evidence of the spread of the cholera and of popular terror. The cholera is becoming more virulent at Novgorod, and the people there blame Baranoff, the governor, for not taking better measures of prevention. Baranoff, in reply to popular criticism, has increased the severity with which he punishes his critics. Two respectable citizens, by order of the governor, were publicly punished with 100 lashes of the knout for having spoken unfavorably regarding the sanitary arrangements made by Baranoff.

LAKESIDE.

The Number of Visitors is Daily Increasing.

Lakeside, O., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Bishop Taylor, of Africa, talked on 'Africa' yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. His discourse was a very interesting one and was well attended.

At the close of the talk the bishop shook hands with old and young and the people left whatever they wished to give to missions in a hat by his side. The hat was a large one and Dr. Keene requested that it be filled, but we are afraid he was disappointed.

BOLD ROBBERY.

Thomas Ford Holds Up a Farm House in Border Style.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 9.—Thomas Ford committed one of the most daring robberies in this city on Saturday that has been heard of for a long time. Ford lives on a farm belonging to John M. Thackery, of this city, and came here on Saturday to see him. When inside the house he drew a loaded revolver and ordered all the inmates to leave the house. They left and Ford stole two gold watches valued at $150 each, a pair of bracelets valued at $60 and a note for $145. He then took a train for Elkton, Md. The matter was reported to the police this morning and they are after the burglar.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

They Will Cast Their Votes With the People's Party.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—A state convention of the knights of labor is being held here to-day for the purpose of deciding which political party the order shall support in the coming campaign.

As the knights were represented in the Omaha convention, and have been identified with the independent movement from the start, the action of the convention is a foregone conclusion, and there is not a shadow of a doubt but that they will cast their fortunes with the people's party.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

Holman and Henderson Have Their Say.

The Session of Congress Just Closed Was Economical Under the Circumstances.

Washington, Aug. 9.—By authority of the house of representatives, Mr. Holman will print a speech in the Congressional Record, dealing with the appropriations made at the last session of congress from the democratic standpoint. Mr. Holman's statement differs materially from that made by Senator Allison last week. He says:

"The appropriations made at this session of congress, including permanent appropriations, show a reduction of $33,529,291 under the appropriations made at the last session of the last congress, or a deduction equivalent to $100,000 to each congressional district in the United States, but for the purpose of comparison the amount of the river and harbor bill, $21,153,618, should be deducted from the appropriations of this session for the reason that no river and harbor bill was passed at the last session of congress, against the appropriations of which those made at this session should logically be contrasted.

The total appropriations made at this session amount to $507,701,380, including the river and harbor bill, being $33,529,291 less than those made at the last session of congress, and, deducting the river and harbor bill, the reduction is $54,682,909, and in contrast with the average appropriation for the two sessions of the last congress, the reduction is $10,142,080.

Mr. Holman states that $79,527,602 of the appropriations made at this session just ended were pursuant to the laws (such as sugar bounty, pensions, etc.) en-Record, dealing with the Congressional

He charges enormous activity on the part of powerful lobbies, the union of the administration and the senate against the house in its efforts at retrenchment, and asserts that the house in these circumstances has done fairly well, although the government would be administered as efficiently and more honestly if the reduction had been thrice as great as it was.

Representative Henderson, of Iowa, the senior republican member of the house appropriation committee, reviews the appropriations of the past session as follows:

The appropriation bills as they passed the house at this session, without including any contracts or re-appropriations, etc., are $21,885,820 greater than the appropriations of the first session of the Fifty-first congress as they passed the house.

Including appropriations for pensions purposely left for the senate to add they are $33,383,104 greater. The appropriations of the first session of the Fifty-second congress without contracts, etc., exceed the average of the last congress, $8,740,358. The appropriations of this session including authorized contracts exceed the average appropriations last congress with contracts, etc., $67,912,339. The appropriations and authorized contracts, etc., of this session exceed the sum of the first session, last congress, $102,270,380. The appropriations last session Fifty-second congress, without contracts, etc., exceed first session Fifty-first congress without contracts, etc., $45,682,500. Total appropriations, without contracts, etc., this session, $57,501,380. Total appropriations this session with authorized contracts, $543,339,251.

DAVIS IS HAPPY.

Well Pleased with What Congress Did for the Fair.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—In a published interview Director-General Davis of the world's Columbian commission is quoted as saying that congress had really given the fair $3,283,000, or $783,000 more than is generally understood the bill called for. His summary of the various items brings the total to the sum stated as follows: World's Columbian commission, $120,000; board of lady managers, $110,000; government exhibit board, $400,000; medals and diplomas, $103,000; for loss on coinage of souvenirs, $50,000; world's Columbian exposition, $2,500,000; total, $3,283,000. Mr. Davis then goes on to show how this amount can still be further increased by disposing of the souvenir half dollars at a premium.

"Now you will see," he said, "that I have not counted anything for premium on the half dollars. I know of an offer of 20 per cent. premium on the whole issue that is ready now. My opinion is that every one of the half dollars is worth at least 75 cents. A moderate estimate would give us $500,000 profit there, so that we may thank congress for making us a present of nearly $4,000,000 when we had asked only for a loan of $5,000,000. I feel sure that the more friends of the fair consider the question, the more they will feel the value of the legislation in its favor."

RELEASED AND REARRESTED.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Keeper Neal, of the Erie county penitentiary, received papers from Washington commuting the sentence of James Faulkner, the Dansville bank wrecker, and setting him free. He was at once released from custody, but was immediately rearrested on a warrant charging forgery in the second degree, in certifying to false accounts of the bank. He was taken to jail.

You Can't Keep Cool while you're rubbing away over a tub of steaming clothes. If you want to keep comfortable and save your health (think of inhaling that fetid steam) and strength, stop the rubbing—and the steaming. Pearline does it. Pearline; cold water; no boiling; little work; that is the programme for hot-weather washing.

This taking away of the rubbing is more than a matter of saving work. It's a saving of needless and ruinous wear and tear to all your summer clothing.

Direction for this easy, safe and economical washing, on every package of Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 353 JAMES PYLE, New York.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never Fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist.

MARKETS OF THE WORLD

The Wheat Crop Will Show a Great Shortage.

The Discrepancy Placed at Many Million Bushels.

Prices in the Various Trading Pits —Receipts and Shipments of Grain — General Mention.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 138,344 bus., and at five other western points 891,579 bus., aggregate 1,229,723 bus. On the same Tuesday in 1891 the receipts were 913,573 bus., with only 56,693 bus. of northwestern wheat.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat 527,782 bus., and flour to an aggregate of 650,000 bus. Export of corn, 37,628 bus., and of oats 26,050 bus.

English markets open higher in London for wheat and corn, an dsteady in Liverpool.

Recapitulating from date at hand it is plain that while our visible supply as per New York statement, is 8,127,000 bushels greater than at corresponding date in 1891, the stock on ocean passage is about 12,000,000 bushels lesst han last year, including the increase of 2,384,000 bushels last week, making what is called the available wheat, 3,785,000 bushels less than last year.

The receipts ofw heat at seven western points the last 6 days aggregate 6,347,964 bu. In the corresponding six days in 1891 the receipts at same points were 5,369,656 bu., or 978,308 bu. this year in excess of last.

The leading adverse element in the above movement is, that while our sections of wheat by railway last year, on these six days, gave 78 per cent. of No. 2 soft, this year's grading on some days gives only 32 per cent. of No. 2. Chicago grading gives a less per cent. of No. 2. This element must be considered in estimating the crop, as the weight of the wheat averages much more largely under the 60 pound bushel.

The wheat and corn markets do not stand hitched. It is tolerably sure that the dealers overdid the business yesterday. Grain markets have a slippery foundation and when you trust them over night they can decieve the most wise and prudent. To-day everything is reversed from the rosy tints of yesterday. The news of rain in the west and prospect of more of it, and the statistics of the movement at home and on the ocean have shaken the confidence of buyers and the markets have made a sharp break to-day.

Foreign markets present a more firm and encouraging indication, but prices on this side are close to the export value.

In New York our closing report is late and we must omit prices.

In Chicago, August wheat closed at 78 1-4c, a loss of 7-8c; September at 78 1-4c, a loss of 1 3-8c. September corn at 53 1-4c, a loss of 1 5-8c. September oats at 33 3-4c, a loss of 1 1-4c.

In Toledo the wheat market has been much more active than for ten days, with the trading generally for September, but December was a good second. It has been a declining market, the close showing a little improvement over the lowest prices of the day. On the basis of September the opening was 3-4c lower, and the decline was increased an additional 7-8c, but gained 3-8c at the close. On the call August sold at 81 1-4c to 80 7-8c; October at 81 1-2c and December at 83 3-4c. After the call August sold at 81 1-8c to 80 1-4c, and closed at 80 1-2c, a loss of 1 1-4c; September sold at 81c to 80 1-8c, and closed at 80 1-2c, a loss of 1 1-4c. December sold at 83 7-8c to 83c and closed at 83 1-2c, a loss of 3-4.

Cash wheat was active with large sales. No. 2 soft was most in request, with sales of 85,000 bushels, opening at 80 3-4 to 81c, selling down to 80 1-4c and closing at 80 1-2c, a loss of 1 1-4c. No. 3 soft sold to extent of 65,000 bushels at 75 3-4 to 75 1-4c, closing at 75 1-2c. No. 4 soft at 70 1-2 to 71c, closing at 70 1-2c. Rejected No. 1 at 71c, No. 2 at 65 1-2, smutty at 70c. No. 2 red and white at 78 3-4c, No. 3 at 74c.

Corn—No. 2 at 52 1-2c, No. 3 at 50c, No. 2 yellow at 53 3-4c. Oats—No. 3 at 32c. Rye—No. 2 for September 68 1-2c. Clover seed, was still higher and firm. Price advanced 25c per bushel. Sales of October at $5.85 to $6.05.

Corn Burning Up.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 8.—Hot winds continued in Kansas to-day to the great injury of the corn crop. Grain men here have advices from the state which lead them to the belief that only half a crop can be harvested now even under good conditions for the rest of the season. A continuance of the hot winds for two or three days will still further reduce the yield.

Ohio Weather and Crops.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—Over the northern section the rainfall was below, and temperature and sunshine nearly average.

Over the middle section the rainfall was above, and temperature and sunshine nearly average.

Over the southern section the rainfall was deficient in the southwest portion, and in excess elsewhere—the temperature and sunshine were about the average.

Northern section: Fine week for harvesting oats, threshing wheat and for fall plowing. Light showery weather was favorable for the growing crops. Haying is nearly done. Wheat threshing out poor with berry shrunken—not up to expectations. Oats harvested; are a fair crop. Corn is growing well, tasseling and silking; nights are a little too cool. Buckwheat and tobacco are looking well. Potatoes are promising in some counties, but injured by blight and bugs in others. Pastures are good in some localities, but in others have been damaged by drouth and grasshoppers—grasshoppers have also injured the oats, clover seed, cabbage and corn over a good many counties. Blackberries are plentiful. Early pears are ripe. Grapes rotting considerably.

Middle section: The weather during the week was favorable for growing crops, but the heavy rains have retarded oat harvesting and wheat threshing in some localities. Wheat yield good, but quality in some counties poor. Oats yielding well. Hay is about all made and is a good crop. Pastures are good but getting short. Potatoes good in some counties, but poor and blighted in others. Grapes and plums are rotting. Grasshoppers are very numerous over nearly all counties, and are damaging the corn, oats, clover seed and green crops generally. The black bugs are doing a good deal of damage to the potatoes. Pastures have been greatly benefited by the rains. Plowing for wheat is under way in some counties.

Southern section: Frequent and heavy showers have delayed threshing, but were beneficial to all growing crops, except in the southwest portion of the section, where the rainfall was light, and the drouth somewhat injurious to the corn and tobacco. The wheat yield is fairly good. Oat threshing is in progress; a full crop is reported, of good quality. The corn is growing nicely, and is silking. The hay is mostly secured in good condition. Some turnips have been sown. Pastures, potatoes and tobacco generally are in good condition, but need rain badly in the southwest counties. Fall plowing is in progress. Grasshoppers are damaging the clover, corn, oats and grass in some counties.

Short Wheat Crops.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 9.—There will be a shortage of nearly 30,000,000 bushels in the wheat crop of Minnesota and the two Dakotas. These figures are made by Col. G. D. Rogers, of the Minneapolis Market Record, after making a thorough canvass of the situation. He puts the total yield at 130,000,000 bushels, whereas that of last year was a little above 160,000,000 bushels.

For the country north of the Northern Pacific railroad he puts the yield at 60 per cent. of last year's yield, while in all the great wheat belt south of it the yield will be larger by a considerable ratio, the acreage is 10 per cent. greater than last year, and the yield per acre, he computes, will be somewhat larger. The disappointing feature is the North Dakota crop. The hot weather of the past week has done the growing grain of the state no good, and if continued over the seven coming days the prophets will have to lower their estimate of a week ago by a good many bushels. At that time the most conservative among them were estimating a crop of not less than 60 per cent. of last year's phenomenal yield. Today the same men were estimating it at anywhere from 30 to 60 per cent., according to the reports received from their respective sections.

It is the hot weather that is doing the mischief. Late sown and backward grain is particularly sensitive to the effects of hot weather, and during the past few days the evidence has been piling up that North Dakota crops are in a precarious situation.

"My present estimate upon the latest information I have received from the front is half of last year's crop," said Mr. Chambers, of the North Dakota elevator company. "The reports I have been receiving the past few days are anything but reassuring, and if there isn't a change for the better soon I will have to again revise my estimate."

Mr. Cardin, of the Northern Pacific elevator company, talks even more dejectedly. Information was received yesterday that in the vicinity of Lamoure there was a large belt already showing the effects of the hot weather. "Our agent at that place," said Mr. Cardin, "wires us that there is a large area in that locality effected, and he estimates the damage at least 25 per cent.

"The hail, too, is cutting quite a figure just at this time. Mr. Petit tells me that near St. Hilaire the storm devastated a section of country some fifty or sixty miles long by six or eight miles broad. Between hot weather and hail we are rather getting the worst of it. Stubble-sown wheat is in a sad plight, and in general will probably be not worth cutting."

Mr. Cardin is inclined to think that 100,000,000 bushels is a large enough estimate for this season's crop. Other grain men place their estimates between the figures of Editor Rogers and Mr. Cardin.

New York, Aug. 9.—A London cable to a morning paper says that Parson Davies on behalf of Choynski says that he will match his man to fight eight three-minute rounds with Jim Daly, Corbett's trainer, who has recently offered to fight Fitzsimmons, on September 5, the date intended for Fitzsimmons' contest with O'Brien. Davies further says: "If the Olympic club will offer reasonable purse Choynski will sail at once for New Orleans, and I will not ask for expense money for him. The reason that I stipulate eight rounds is that there is not time for Choynski to train for a finish fight on that date. If Daly will make this match we will sail for America on the City of Rome, August 25. Choynski is in good health, and a man of his habits can easily train sufficiently on the steamer and shore before September 5 to make a fight worth seeing with any man of his weight."

WHEN TALL BUILDINGS BURN,

Firemen Have Difficulty in Fighting the Flames Above the Fifth Story.

"How do I fight fires in large buildings? Well, that is the question that is hard to answer for more than one reason," said Fire Chief Hughes to a Courier-Journal reporter yesterday. "In the first place no two fires are alike, and then again it all depends on the building. Some of the very highest buildings are beyond our reach. In case we have a fire in one of the upper floors of such a building we would do what Chief Swenie, of Chicago, said he would do on such occasion; 'Let it burn down to where we could reach it and then put it out.' Take a building like the Commerce, for instance. Of course there is little danger of a big fire there, but if one should break on the top floor, how could we reach it? It would be necessary to drag the hose up 20 flights of stairs and its weight would be more than the men could carry. Besides, the smoke, having no means of egress at the top, would force its way to the lower floors and keep the firemen from getting to the top. In such an event we could do but little. The water tower might throw water into the top floor, but the stream could hardly be directed where it was most needed. I should probably take advantage of the highest surrounding buildings and put two engines on one stream. This, though, would be of little service in a fire that was all smoke, as we could not locate the blaze.

"When we get a fire in a large building we generally make such arrangements as the occasion demands. Nearly always we surround the fire, if it has a good start or the building is a dangerous one, and endeavor to protect the surrounding property. Then, as other engines arrive, they are put to work on the fire itself. Were streams directed into a large fire without making any effort to save the surrounding property it would get away with us every time. The Kaufman, Straus & Co. fire was not in a large building, but it was fought in just such a manner as we would tackle one in a higher structure. Every effort was made to keep the flames from spreading to the adjoining buildings, and we did so. As the Board of Trade building where the fire was between the fifth story and the roof, we aimed to get at the fire. The smoke bothered us considerably, but we managed to keep it on that floor.

"If fires originated no higher than that it would not be so hard to get at them. Take a building like the Coureir-Journal. Should a fire break out on the top floor we would endeavor to reach it if we could. The great trouble with most high buildings that are beyond the reach of ladders is that they have a metal roof and heavy skylights. The fire cannot break through and smoke fills the halls and stairways below. Men cannot make their way through it. Smoke is the most dreadful foe a fireman has to encounter and it is surprising how much smoke can proceed from a very little fire. A hatful of rags, for instance, will sometimes make enough smoke to fill a whole building and choke everybody that seeks to let it out. The work of dragging hose up the stairs in these structures is an impossibility. In most large buildings the staircases wind around the elevator shafts and it is readily seen how difficult it would be to carry a spiral line of hose through smoke up seven or eight or ten floors.

"Once we can get to the roof of one of these buildings and cut a hole to let the smoke out it is a comparatively easy matter to put out the fire. Of course the fire will start with a whoop the moment it gets air, but before cutting the roof we have men with streams ready to pounce upon it immediately. The water tower has reduced the danger of fires in upper stories. It is always used on the fire proper, except when there is danger of the blaze getting out by reason of defective walls, and then it is kept to one side to cut off the spread of the flames. We always aim to put out small fires with as little water as possible, and always try to ventilate the high buildings so that the exact location of the fire can be found. In some buildings the men can enter through the windows from ladders and fight their way through the smoke to the blaze in a minute or two. Our aerial truck enables us to get up 85 feet. This, with the aid of smaller ladders, will be high enough for a town of this size. Five stories is high enough for buildings. When a fire breaks out above the fifth floor there is not much chance to put the fire out on that floor."

MORE WANTS THAN ONE.

A Bright Woman Knows How to Accomplish Her Object.

Some women are brighter than others. Here's an act of one of the some.

It was in a big Fourteenth street dry goods store—one of those places where women push and struggle and fight to get near the counter to save the extra cent, while the wear and tear on their clothes and temper costs many a dollar.

The store had advertised a sale of black kid gloves of standard make at a big reduction. The space in front of the glove counter was packed with women, struggling to see those gloves. By dint of patient waiting one woman with bright brown eyes and clear-cut features got to the counter. She told the saleswoman her size, paid for the gloves, waited a quarter of an hour for the change and then retired to the edge of the crowd to try on her new purchase.

She was just getting the last few pulls on the first glove, when "crack," and the whole palm split open. Forcing her way to the counter again, the woman showed the split glove to the salesgirl.

"Can't do anything for you," was her trite answer. "We never exchange gloves."

The woman with the brown eyes didn't lose her temper. She looked for a floor-walker instead. She spied one in the thickest of the crowd at the glove counter.

"This glove has split," she said. "I want another pair." She said it loud enough for all the would-be buyers to hear.

The crowd stopped buying. Some began to talk. "What a shame," and "it's a swindle," and "I guess I won't take these gloves," were some of the remarks.

The floor-walker was quick to grasp the situation.

"Give this lady another pair of gloves," he said to the saleswoman.

FOUND THE APPLICATION.

"Is this the emporium for lost treasures?" she asked anxiously as she paused before a desk where a bewilted young man sat fanning himself.

"This is the place where articles found on the Woodward avenue cars are turned in," was the reply.

"Well, I lost my pocketbook on your old cars and I want to know if you've got it?"

"What kind of a pocketbook was it, madam?"

"Russet leather, with a nickel silver clasp. It was a present from my class in—"

"What did it contain?" interrupted the youth.

"A dollar bill, two hair pins, a glove buttoner, a stick of chewing gum, four pearl buttons, a lock of Willie's hair, a boot button, four stamps, three car tickets—"

"Madam," said the young man hastily but respectfully, "we have at least a dozen pocketbooks lost by ladies, and they are all of russet leather and contain just these things. You must find some other means of identification."

"There was a clipping of poetry," said the loser, after a moment's thought; "it began: 'Whatever, is, is best.'"

"You will have to console yourself with that, I am afraid, madam," said the tired clerk, "the pocketbook isn't here."—Detroit Free Press.

SNAKES ARE OFTEN MUSICAL.

Enchanted by the Bagpipe, They Are Not Hard to Catch.

When a snake has bitten several times the poison is quite exhausted for the time being, rendering the animal comparatively harmless. It is said to be this fact which enables the Indian snake charmers to handle their charges without danger. They tease them into anger, when they will readily bite a stick or bundle of rags and so exhaust their venom. Perhaps it will be well here to say a few more words in regard to snake charmers.

Many kinds of serpents, especially the hooded cobra of India, are thought to be affected by music. In capturing them for exhibition, the Indian takes his bagpipe, and, stationing himself near an old well or ruin, begins to play. A cobra is almost certain to make his appearance soon, for they are very numerous in that country. They are held in sacred reverence, the little children calling them "uncle," and setting saucers of milk for them to drink; and they are looked upon as guardian angels. Should one be killed the slayer would suffer death in punishment.

As the music of the bagpipe rises and falls, the snake seems to sway to and fro, and, all unconscious, is seized by the musician's confederate. In this state of musical excitement the snakes are said to be quite safe to handle.—St. Nicholas.
